York Guard Unit Gets Big Goodby

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

York, Neb. — York bade a fond farewell Monday night to the men of the 1057th Transportation Co. of the Nebraska National Guard.

The unit — 86 strong at last month's summer camp, but larger now — enters active duty Oct. 1.

Gov. Frank Morrison joined York civic, service and fraternal organizations in offering a goodby.

"I wish you a safe and speedy return from this historic mission," the governor told a crowd of 250 at the Armory.

"May God bless all of you."

Earlier, Guardsman and their wives were feted at a gala dinner at the Legionnaire Club.

The evening provided a strange mixture of sadness and pride.

'Cold Wind'

For York citizens, it brought the chilly wind of the cold war right to their doorsteps and into their homes.

"Our nation," Morrison told Guardsmen, "has been delegated a great responsibility by our Creator."

The governor pledged that those who stay behind will, "as an obligation to you, preserve the liberty which you defend."

Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch, adjutant general, noted that the York guard unit "has served the state and nation with highest honor since 1879."

It was last activated on Dec. 23, 1940.

Mayor O. N. Miller said the departure of the unit is "a loss to York."

"But," he added, "I sure as hell hope it will be a greater loss to Mr. Khrushchev."

On hand to send the Guardsmen on their way were members of the 43rd Army Band, the last Nebraska Guard unit to be called into federal service.

The 1057th is scheduled to report to Ft. Carson, Colo. next week.

Lincoln Minister In Jail

The Rev. Willard Hadsell, 4510 Baldwin, went to jail Monday rather than pay a $25 fine.

He was found guilty after trial in Municipal Court on one count of a charge that he failed to remove a building at 2410 So. 9th by Aug. 19, 1961, as directed by the City Council.

Six other counts were continued until Oct. 31st, according to City Prosecutor Fred Swihart, as the building is presently being demolished.

About 9 Days

The Rev. Mr. Hadsell can serve out the fine — plus court and commitment costs — at a rate of $3 a day, or about 9 days.

On Sept. 19, the Rev. Mr. Hadsell was found guilty on two counts of a similar charge against property at 4218 St. Paul. The property has since been sold, Swihart said.

The Rev. Mr. Hadsell has pleaded innocent and faces trial on the same charge against a 3rd piece of property at 5740 Baldwin.

The City Council resolution charged that the buildings were substandard and beyond repair.

Nisley Seeks Re-Election As Labor Chief

Richard Nisley of Omaha will seek his second term as president of the State AFL-CIO at the organization's annual convention next week.

Nisley was named head of the 40,000-member group by its executive board in 1959 following the resignation of Gordon Preble.

In 1960, the AFL-CIO convention in Grand Island endorsed the appointment by electing Nisley as president.

This year's convention will be held in Omaha.

No Opposition Now

Nisley, 42, told The Star Monday that he "hopes to be re-elected" to a two-year term. He has no announced opposition at this time.

Nels Petersen of Omaha will also seek re-election as secretary-treasurer.

The organization's convention will be held Oct. 2-4 at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel.

Monday's opening sessions are largely devoted to committee business and social activities.

National labor leaders and Gov. Frank Morrison will highlight a full day of addresses Tuesday.

Election of officers is scheduled Wednesday.

Judge Rules Mistrial For Cattle Baron

Timber Lake, S.D. (UPI)—The jury trial of Nebraska-South Dakota cattle king Charlie Peterson, 73, was halted Monday before it had progressed to the taking of testimony.

Circuit Judge Leslie R. Hersrud, Lemmon, S.D., declared a mistrial during opening argument by Peterson's attorney, Warren May, Pierre.

Hersrud ruled that a statement which May had made would tend to "mislead" the jury. He said the statement could also reflect adversely on either the character of May or Dewey County, S.D., state's Attorney Andrew Aberle.

This was a reference to a previous unsucessful attempt by the South Dakota Livestock Sanitary Board to get a court order to test Peterson's cattle for tuberculosis.

Congressmen Cannot Stop Merry-Go-Round

. . . RIDE WILL LAST AT LEAST ONE MORE DAY

Washington (AP)—Senate leaders clutched vainly for adjournment Monday on the congressional merry-go-round. They drew an unwanted brass ring giving them another day's ride, at the least.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced Tuesday's session will start one hour early, at 11 a.m. EDT instead of the usual noon, in hopes of winding up the session Tuesday night.

Mansfield gave up any thought of adjourning Monday after he was blocked in an effort to speed action on the last big bill awaiting disposition — a $1-billion supplemental appropriation measure financing scores of miscellaneous government programs.

Prouty Objects

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., objected when Mansfield asked for unanimous consent to waive the rules and bring the bill up immediately. Under the rules the bill could not be considered until Tuesday.

Under that schedule adjournment late Tuesday would be the best the leadership could aim for.

While the supplemental money bill held the key to adjournment, there were other items remaining to be disposed of.

One of these was the foreign aid appropriation bill which has passed both the Senate and House but in differing amounts. The House voted $3,657,600,000 for the program and the Senate added $539 million to this figure. Senate and House conferees were trying to compromise the difference.

Another last-minute money gap apparently was closed when Senate and House conferees agreed on a public works measure carrying funds for flood control, navigation and reclamation projects. The bill also carries money for the Atomic Energy Commission. The House had voted a total of $3,662,701,380 and the Senate raised the figure to $3,940,926,880.

Details of the compromise, which required Senate and House approval, were not immediately available but Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., told newsmen the final figure was close to the Senate total.

Tax Relief

Still posing a question mark over adjournment plans was a bill designed to provide income tax relief for stockholders of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Co. Without this legislation, Du Pont shareholders who receive General Motors stock under an antitrust divestiture proceeding would have to pay about $1 billion in income taxes. The bill would reduce the total payment to about $350 million.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leading opposition to the Du Pont bill, said he hoped to stave off action on it until next year.

Prouty's objection to shortcut handling of the supplemental appropriation bill stalled a drive to adjourn last Saturday. The Vermonter protested that the money bill had not been on members' desks long enough for them to know what was in it.

—'I HAVE HAD ENOUGH'—

Adenauer Says He May Retire

London (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a British TV audience Monday night he is thinking of retiring. "I have no intention of having 4 more years. I have had enough," said the 85-year-old West German leader.

The chancellor was featured briefly in the TV news program "Panorama," broadcast weekly to a British audience of millions.

He made his reference to retirement after being asked how long he would stay in office if re-elected chancellor.

Good Thing

Interviewed on the same program, West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss said many people thought it would be a good thing if Adenauer established a new cabinet and guaranteed a transition to another chancellor who would—"according to firm conviction"—be Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

Adenauer and Strauss expressed their views in prerecorded statements.

The chancellor was busy in Bonn working out preliminaries for the possible formation of a national coalition government in West Germany. His Christian Democratic Party lost its Bundestag (lower house) majority in the Sept. 17 general election and must find outside support to stay in power.

Strauss gave a sweeping review of Germany's defense role in the Western alliance.

Small and Weak

Asked by interviewer Robin Day about fears that a revised and enlarged Germany might become a menace, he replied that a unified Germany in the form of a national state would be by modern standards small and weak.

"We favor Germany as a member of the United States of Europe with non-military sovereignty," he declared.

". . . this Russian fear is a kind of political warfare," he added.

"A man like (Soviet premier) Khrushchev who has threatened the world with complete destruction with hundreds of hydrogen bombs would not be afraid of Germany," Strauss said.

Kentucky Solon Feels Mixup 'Shouldn't Happen To A Dog'

Washington (AP) — A temporary mixup in which Congress apparently confused a proposed Kentucky flood control project with one in Nebraska "is something that shouldn't happen to a dog," Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., said Monday.

But it's all straightened out, he said with a grin.

Chelf's request for $15,000 to start a flood control survey on the Salt River didn't actually wind up in Nebraska.

But Chelf and other Kentucky members of Congress found that some members of the House Appropriations Committee apparently thought they had approved the Kentucky project when they okayed $1.7 million for Nebraska's Salt Creek.

When the measure went to the Senate, Chelf, Rep. William H. Natcher, D-Ky, and Sen. John Sherman Cooper and Thruston B. Morton, Kentucky Republicans, argued their case of possible mistaken identity and the Senate reinstated the Kentucky survey.

"It was an unavoidable mistake," Chelf said. "The committee has hundreds of projects to consider. It shouldn't happen to a dog but it happened to me and my people."

Flooding along the Salt River last fall prompted the request for the flood control survey. Chelf plans to ask for another $50,000 next year to complete the survey.

President Pushes Weapons Control

. . . URGES FRESH BERLIN PARLEY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

United Nations (AP)—President Kennedy solemnly challenged Russia to a "peace race" Monday and warned the 99 United Nations that unless men now quickly learn to control their weapons and their quarrels they may shortly destroy themselves.

The next 10 months are crucial for the future of the world, he said.

The youthful U.S. executive on his first appearance here evidently sounded his loud alarm in an effort to push Russia toward agreement on fresh negotiations over Berlin and disarmament.

Disarm Plan

He laid out a 6-point disarmament plan, offering to freeze nuclear weapons production and possession virtually as soon as international controls to prevent cheating could be organized. He was challenging the Soviet Union, he said, "not to an arms race but to a peace race."

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko sat stolid and impassive as Kennedy spoke those words. He occupied a front row seat scarcely a dozen feet away from Kennedy.

Kennedy sought, too, to rally the smaller nations of the world to a campaign to save the U.N. from what he considers Soviet wrecking tactics. And simultaneously he tried to get across to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, through Gromyko, that if Russia tries to take over Berlin, Laos or any other area at the risk of war the United States stands ready to employ nuclear weapons if necessary.

Will, Weapons

The United States has "both the will and the weapons" to defend freedom, Kennedy said, but it seeks peaceful negotiation, not military conflict.

After the assembly session ended a few minutes past noon Kennedy went to a reception in the delegates lounge. There he talked informally and privately with a group including Gromyko and Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon. What they discussed was not disclosed. Gromyko and Krishna Menon made no public comment on Kennedy's speech.

Kennedy held out hope of a peaceful solution to the Berlin crisis, but his summing up of the state of the world today rumbled with the advancing thunder of some nuclear Armageddon. His speech might have sounded much like the usual oratory of East-West propaganda duelling except that the President has been reported extremely concerned about Khrushchev's belligerence and the growing dangers of war in the last few months.

Standing Ovation

The U.S. leader was greeted with a standing ovation when he entered the assembly hall. Gromyko joined in the applause. But Gromyko sat with silent hands while Kennedy spoke, though other delegations interrupted his 38-minute speech 6 times. So far as could be judged from the galleries, other Communist Bloc countries followed Gromyko's lead.

Kennedy got a 40-second ovation at the end, and Assembly President Mongi Slim said just before the President left the big gold, blue and green hall that he was sure the message would be studied by all delegations "with the attention and seriousness it warrants."

Ambassador C. S. Jha of India told reporters as the crowds poured out of the auditorium that it was a "very fine speech." Ambassador Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, a leader of the 46-country Asian-African Bloc, said "it was a thought-provoking speech that needs close examination. I was very favorably impressed."

Future Will Tell

In developments of the next few days and weeks the success of the speech will be judged here in large part by how the neutralist nations like India and Ghana line up on critical issues such as selection of a successor to the later Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. What Kennedy tried to hammer home to them was that in his judgment everything they do must have the most fateful consequences: there is little margin for error.

"The events and decisions of the next 10 months," Kennedy declared, "may well decide the fate of man for the next 10 thousand years."

As he spoke those words, standing behind the wide lectern and facing the attentive

Sihanouk Eyes Laos Troubles

. . . TALKS WITH PRESIDENT

New York (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia told President Kennedy Monday that peace will be difficult to obtain and neutrality hard to establish in Laos.

Sihanouk called on Kennedy at the President's hotel headquarters.

Sihanouk told newsmen afterward that his country adopts the same position as expressed by Kennedy in the chief executive's United Nations address toward complete and general disarmament.

"With controls," the Cambodian chief of state emphasized.

Steady Stream

Prince Sihanouk was one of the steady stream of visitors in Kennedy's suite after the President had discussed hemispheric problems with Latin American officials at a luncheon given by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The luncheon was held in U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's hotel apartment, and attended by nearly 40 Latin American leaders and U.S. diplomats.

Stevenson later conferred with Kennedy at the President's quarters in the Hotel Carlyle. He told newsmen he had found "nothing but universal and enthusiastic approval" of Kennedy's U.N. address.

Kennedy's talk had a "marked effect on all delegates with whom I have talked," Stevenson said. Particularly impressive, he added, were Kennedy's proposals on step-by-step achievement of general disarmament and the preservation of a strong U.N. executive.

Brought Gifts

Sihanouk who brought gifts from his homeland to President and Mrs. Kennedy, said he and the chief executive talked over Southeast Asian problems. Asked about the prospects for peace in restive Laos, the prince said this is still a difficult goal to achieve.

"One cannot find very easily a solution," he said. Kennedy fully agrees with him on the need for neutrality in Laos, Sihanouk said, but this also will be "very hard to obtain."

Robert Moses, head of the group organizing the 1964 New York World's Fair, and former New York Gov. Charles M. Poletti, another exposition official, also were among Kennedy's visitors. With two associates, they discussed Congressional rejection of the administration's request for funds they feel are essential to insure effective U.S. participation in the fair.

—DETAILS OF NEW PROGRAM GIVEN—

United States Offers Disarmament Plan

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States gave the United Nations a broad new disarmament plan Monday with a brand new idea—that the atomic powers agree at the outset not to shift control of any atomic weapons to any other countries.

President Kennedy outlined the plan to the General Assembly in a wide-ranging 40-minute speech. The U.S. delegation handed the details to the U.N. Secretariat to be passed around to the 99 countries in the Assembly and on the Disarmament Commission.

Kennedy proposed that disarmament negotiations, broken off by the Soviet Union 15 months ago, should "resume promptly, and continue without interruption until an entire program for general and complete disarmament has not only been agreed upon but actually achieved." He suggested they work on the new U.S. plan.

The President said the plan would proceed gradually under international inspection "until it has abolished all armies and all weapons except those needed for internal order and a new United Nations peace force.

"And," he added, "it starts that process now, today, even as the talks begin."

He challenged the Soviet Union "not to an arms race, but to a peace race, to advance with us step by step" to full disarmament. He said the new program included these proposals:

"First, signing the test-ban treaty, by all nations. This can be done now. Test ban negotiations need not and should not await general disarmament talks.

"Second, stopping the production of fissionable materials for use in weapons, and preventing their transfer to any nation now lacking nuclear weapons.

"Third, prohibiting the transfer of control over nuclear weapons to states that do not now own them.

"Fourth, keeping nuclear weapons from seeding new battlegrounds in outer space.

"Fifth, gradually destroying existing nuclear weapons and converting their materials to peaceful uses; and

"Finally, halting the unlimited testing and production of strategic nuclear delivery weapons, and gradually destroying them as well."

These points were elaborated in a 2,700-word "Declaration on Disarmament" containing a 3-stage U.S. outline program for "general and complete disarmament in a peaceful world"—the bulk of the documentation submitted for U.N. distribution.

Third Point New

The third point had never been proposed formally before. It would bar the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France from handing control over any nuclear weapons to countries now without them.

U.S. sources said that whereas the United States had previously put forward each stage of its disarmament proposals as a package on a basis of take-it-all-or-leave-it, that government now was willing to single out the part about no nuclear weapon transfers, or any other part, and sign a separate agreement on that. One of them said the new disarmament plan was "one of the boldest, one of the most far-reaching, one of the most comprehensive" ever advanced anywhere.

The new plan dropped two ideas in another plan—that of progressively reducing military budgets and that of setting up a zone of aerial and ground inspection in an area including the United States and the Soviet Union.

Challenge Sounds In President's Tone

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press
News Analyst

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — President Kennedy's speech to the U.N. General Assembly Monday had the ring of challenge. But there were overtones suggesting that the way now is open to ease the perilous crisis over divided Berlin.

That quarrel is the central, immediate crisis facing the world. Unless there is some approach toward solution, however temporary, there would seem to be little use in approaching the other outstanding issues.

Accept Facts

The President seemed to be indicating a willingness to accept certain geographical facts of life developing out of the cold war, in exchange for Soviet recognition that the Allies cannot and will not desert free West Berlin.

This reasoning fits in with what the British call "an intentional indiscretion" late last week. Attributed to President Kennedy's personal representative, General Lucius D. Clay, was the idea that West Germans sooner or later would have to accept the "reality" of two existing German states.

President Kennedy said the United States has no rigid formula, seeks no perfect solution, and recognizes that troops and tanks can for a time keep a nation divided, "however unwise that policy may be."

"But," he added, "we believe a peaceful agreement is possible which protects the freedom of West Berlin and Allied presence and access, while recognizing the historic and legitimate interests of others in assuring European security."

The President challenged the Soviet Union on the issue of disarmament: to avoid mere slogans and get down to realistic talk. He challenged the Soviet troika plan of 3 veto-wielding members of a secretariat, holding that would reduce the U.N. to paralysis and confusion. He challenged the Russians to a "peace race" instead of an arms race. He challenged them on the issue of self-determination of peoples, reminding the world that self-determination has yet to reach the Communist empire.

In all this the President pictured the United States as abiding strongly by its convictions in major cold war issues.

Remnants Of War

Premier Khrushchev proposes that peace treaties be signed with the two Germanies by all nations which fought Nazism, thus eliminating what he calls the remnants of World War II. That also, however, would recognize the permanent division of Germany and place Khrushchev in a position to give Communist East Germany full control over all Berlin.

President Kennedy recognized that the Russians could, if they chose, sign a treaty with East Germany, but added that the West was not concerned with a paper arrangement between Moscow and a puppet regime. In effect, he was saying the West could ignore such a treaty.

He then called the Berlin situation an "unnecessary" crisis.

The Russians can lift the tension in Berlin at any moment they choose to do so. The President and his advisers may well feel the moment is just about at hand.

So far as Khrushchev is concerned, the Berlin crisis already has served its purpose. It has provided what apparently was a necessary backdrop to the 22nd Soviet Communist Party Congress opening in Moscow October 17.

The Congress is supposed to launch a 20-year economic program to make the U.S.S.R. the most powerful economic force in the world. This will require deferment of some promises of abundance for the Soviet public, and the Berlin crisis provided the specter of the enemy at the gates intent upon preventing realization of a Soviet dream.

But Khrushchev can hardly launch such a program under the immediate threat of world war. The need for the Berlin scare now seems near its end.

EISENHOWER BACKS KENNEDY'S STAND

Ike, GOP Leaders Approve Kennedy's Speech To U.N.

Gettysburg, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and 3 top Republican leaders interrupted a political powwow Monday to hear President Kennedy's U.N. speech and liked what they heard—on a somewhat qualified basis.

All 4 agreed Kennedy had voiced the aspirations of all Americans in his call for world disarmament and a controlled ban on nuclear tests.

The measured praise came from men who recently have voiced public criticism of Kennedy's foreign policy. But they indicated they felt Kennedy was on the same grounds the American government stood on during the 8 years of the Eisenhower administration.

Summing Up

"We found he was summing up and expressing very eloquently the aspirations of the American people for the last few years," Eisenhower said.

He added he was very deeply impressed that Kennedy "said there is no additional security in merely pursuing the spiral of arms racing. He saw clearly that there could be a weakening. We saw here a definite desire to protect our country."

Eisenhower met at his office on the campus of Gettysburg College for an hour and a half with Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who heads the GOP Senate Campaign Committee and is considered a possible 1964 presidential aspirant; Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the GOP national chairman, and Rep. Bob Wilson of California, head of the House Republican Campaign Committee.

The 4 men predicted Republicans next year will wipe out or cut deeply into Democratic majorities in both House and Senate.

Eisenhower told newsmen the political talk went into methods, plans and programs to be pursued in seeking to elect a Republican House in 1962. The House now favors Democrats by a margin of 262 to 174. Goldwater said Republicans "Need 44 seats and the goal is 50."

In the Senate, under Goldwater's leadership, Eisenhower said, the Republicans "expect to make substantial gains." The lineup there now is 36 Republicans to 64 Democrats.

By substantial gains, Goldwater explained, the GOP meant to pick up a maximum of 8 Senate seats.

Eisenhower left before reporters could ask about his plans to take part in next year's Senate races. Goldwater said, though, that there was nothing definite on that.

Eisenhower noted that he had made a trip to New York recently to inspire Republicans to work harder in the mayoralty race there. He added he considers it even more important to help his former secretary of labor, James E. Mitchell, win the New Jersey governorship.

Mercury To Jump Under Sunny Skies

Generally fair and warmer weather is the outlook for most of Nebraska Tuesday.

The Lincoln area can expect southerly winds of 15 to 25 miles an hour to accompany Tuesday's warmer temperatures.

Highs are expected to range from near 70 in the Panhandle to the upper 70s elsewhere. Panhandle skies will be partly cloudy.

Temperatures early Monday dipped to the freezing mark in many portions of the state with North Platte recording the state's low of 28. Imperial had a low of 31, while Norfolk, Sidney, and Chadron recorded lows of 32. Monday's high was 73 at Chadron.

The Lincoln high was 65 after an overnight low of 42.

Precipitation early Monday ranged from a trace at several points to .15 at David City, Tecumseh, and Wilber.

delegates, he slowed the pace of his speech and jabbed at the audience with his right index finger, in a familiar gesture. He seemed to want that warning to impress especially on the minds of diplomats and governments. He continued to speak slowly and punch at the audience as he added:

"We shall be remembered either as the generation that turned this planet into a flaming pyre or the generation that met its vow 'to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war.'"

Ever Before?

Perhaps no leader of a major nation had ever before raised such a doomsday cry in such a great international forum. It supplied the main theme for everything he said about specific problems:

—He asserted the United States has "the will and the weapons" to fight against Red aggression and in defense of freedom. But he pledged himself to seek a peaceful solution of the Berlin crisis. He indicated readiness to accept temporarily the division of Germany between West and communist rule.

—He proposed a 6-point U.S. disarmament program and called on the Russians to help get negotiations started promptly. To a burst of applause he said, "the weapons of war must be abolished before they abolish us."

—He summoned the non-aligned nations who hold the balance of power between Russia and the allies to reject Russia's "troika" proposal to replace Hammarskjold with a 3-man board. That would create anarchy, paralysis and confusion, Kennedy said, and would "entrench the cold war in the headquarters of peace."

Presses Ban

—He pressed Russia to sign with the U.S. and Britain immediately a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under international controls. Such a treaty said Kennedy is "the logical place to begin" disarmament.

—He recommended that all U.N. member nations start earmarking and training forces for a U.N. "peace-keeping" force, a kind of world police force. U.N. peace-making machinery also must be strengthened, the President said, and the peace commitments of the charter should be extended to outer space before the cold war gets there.

War Game Results In One Death

McHenry, Ill. (UPI)—Four boys who played a game of "war" with loaded rifles grieved Monday over the death of a pal in "one of those goofy things kids do without thinking."

A quaver in his voice, Joseph Springer, 17, one of the 4, put two plaintive questions to authorities who questioned him about the fatal shooting of Lawrence Nova, 17.

"Do you think we'll ever be able to forget this?" Springer asked.

"How can we ever face his parents?"

Nova was struck in his chest Sunday by a .22 caliber slug fired by one of his companions. The slug penetrated his lung and he died a short time later at McHenry Hospital.

The boys told Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed Dowd and State's Attorney Richard Cross they had been target shooting on a farm owned by the Springer family south of McHenry.

They tired of aiming at targets, they said, and divided into two teams for a game of "war."

Seward Lass Is Top Showman

Smithfield, Tekamah Youths Receive Sheep, Hog Honors

Omaha—A Seward County girl was named top showman at the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show to give the county two consecutive showmanship winners. Donna Zillig of Seward won the gold medal award this year in dairy showmanship. Last year the gold medal went to Bill Imig of Seward.

Miss Zillig, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Zillig of Seward. Miss Zillig showed her junior calf named Lilly, and was awarded a gold medal for her effort. Last year this 7-year 4-H'er placed 6th in dairy showmanship. At the Seward County fair, Donna placed second in showmanship.

Second place honors went to Marvin Fishler of Central City, showing his animal, Pawnee Farm Centurian.

Dennis Frensen of Smithfield and Robert Gill of Tekamah took sheep and hog honors respectively.

Frensen swept the crossbred sheep class and Gill was named top hog showman.

Crete Winner

In sheep judging Robbie Ahlschwede of Crete showed the champion Hampshire and Steve Eberspacher of Seward took the reserve lamb championship.

Behind Gill in showmanship were Robert Brichacek and Jerry Cech of Clarkson, Wayne Thoren of Weeping Water, and Tom Wilson, who exhibited the grand champion market hog.

In the junior herd milking shorthorn placings at the Dairy Show, Patty Wiltse of Lyons and Bradley Griess of Aurora won purple ribbons. Blue ribbons went to Wesley Fiddelke of Riverdale, Angela Griess of Aurora and Noran Clatanoff of Howells.

In the Brown Swiss division, there were no purple ribbons awarded. Blue ribbons went to Gary Norskov of Papillion and Marilyn Kapke of Fairbury.

Judeen Egger of Roca and Rosemary Gilliland of Wayne were awarded purple ribbons in the Guernsey division. Blue ribbons went to Sharon Maule and Jane Wiechert, both of Lincoln, and Susan Imig of Seward.

No purple ribbons were given out in the Holstein division. Blue ribbon winners were John Steinheider of Goehner, Leslie Schwisow of Fairbury, Jim Ebel of Creighton and Dennis Thiele of Columbus.

YORK GIRL AK SHOW CO-QUEEN

Omaha (AP) — Gerry Ann Kreifels, 17, of York and Kathy Beale, 18, of Buckingham, Ia., were chosen Monday as Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H queens. They will represent their respective states in this capacity.

Both are 8-year veterans of 4-H work, and both are entered in the 1961 event as fat cattle exhibitors.

Kathy, who won the beef showmanship title at Ak-Sar-Ben in 1958, already has won the Hereford breeding heifer championship, which was judged Saturday.

Gideons Rename Kremer President

Alliance (AP) — Maurice Kremer of Aurora was re-elected president of Nebraska Gideons at the windup of the group's 18th annual state convention.

A total of 130 Gideons and members of the auxiliary registered for the 3-day meeting.

Mrs. C. W. Gurney of Rose was re-elected president of the auxiliary.

Other officers elected by the Gideons:

S. A. Coush, McCook, vice president; Merwyn C. Nelson, Wausa, secretary; Wesley Wheeler, Wauneta, treasurer; W. L. Rogers, Omaha, chaplain.

The auxiliary named Mrs. D. L. Brothers of Dix, vice president, Mrs. Wesley Wheeler of Wauneta, secretary, Mrs. Merrill Hebbert of Ashby, treasurer, and Mrs. Earl Morey of Gordon. chaplain.

Quakers Ask Governor To Halt Hangings

. . . Of Kelley, Brown

Des Moines (AP)—A group of Quakers asked Gov. Norman Erbe Monday to commute the scheduled executions of two Minneapolis men who are awaiting hanging at the state penitentiary.

The two are Charles Edward Kelley, 20, and Charles Noel Brown, 28. They are scheduled to be hanged next summer for a slaying in Council Bluffs earlier in the year.

The 4 Quakers, representing the religious society of Friends, are Donald Laughlin of West Liberty, Ray Hampton of Central City, and Irving Smith and Miss Ardith Emmons, both of What Cheer.

They said that in addition to discussing the fate of Kelley and Brown, they presented the governor their views on the whole issue of capital punishment.

They told the governor that capital punishment is not a deterrent to crime, and that there is a movement growing nationally to abolish capital punishment.

Hampton said the group has no special interest in either Brown or Kelley, but it is just opposed to capital punishment.

Ahrens Elected Head of Lutheran Laymen's League

Columbus (AP)—Allen Ahrens of Columbus is the new president of the Nebraska Lutheran Laymen's League, an affiliate of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

Ahrens was chosen at the closing session to succeed Ward Urbom of Arapahoe. Other officers are: Vic Kuhlman, North Platte, vice president; Paul Curtis, Seward, secretary; Bill Kort, Blue Hill, treasurer; and the Rev. Philip Fry, Beatrice, pastoral adviser.

McCook was chosen for the 1962 convention.

Principal speakers were the Rev. Waldo Werning of Lincoln, and the Rev. Gerhardt Nitz, St. Louis, the banquet speaker.

Attendance at the two-day convention totaled 675, including delegates, pastors, teachers and guests.

Chaparral Poets Retreat Planned

North Platte—The Nebraska chapter of the Midwest Federation of Chaparral Poets will hold its semi-annual retreat at the Pawnee Hotel in North Platte Saturday and Sunday.

'Tax Improvement Key To Education Advances'

The only way to improve Lincoln schools is to improve the local property tax system, Supt. of Schools Steven Watkins said Monday night.

Watkins told the Lincoln Home Builders Assn. that only about 50% of the property in the Lincoln school district is taxable. Among the non-taxable property, he said, are the University of Nebraska and Wesleyan campuses, the State Capitol, and the Lincoln Air Force Base.

"When I tried to get help from the Legislature this summer and I explained this situation to them, one senator told me all I had to do was get this non-taxable property on the tax rolls," Watkins said. "But, he didn't offer any suggestions on how to do it."

The superintendent of schools showed the Home Builders group figures illustrating his point. Watkin's figures showed that local property taxes in Lincoln contributed 92% to the school budget while the national average was only 57%.

Watkins said the Lincoln school system received 4.7% of its support from state taxes while the national average was 42% from state taxes.

'Not Right'

"This situation isn't right and the problem is becoming acute," Watkins said. "But, because of my position, I don't carry much weight with the people who make the laws."

Watkins pointed out that while school costs have risen 4 times since 1940, assessed valuation of property in the school district has gone up only a little more than 50%.

An increase in classrooms, school employes, and school enrolment are responsible for the large increase in costs, Watkins said.

He said the number of classrooms has increased from 476 in 1940 to 984 today, the number of employes from 701 in 1940 to nearly 1,800 today, and the enrolment from 14,101 in 1940 to just over 26,000 this year.

Quick Growth

The school superintendent explained that Lincoln's growth has been far ahead of the national average. Lincoln's enrolment has increased 87% since 1950, while the national average has been 44%. Watkins predicted that by 1965, Lincoln's enrolment will be 32,565 if the status quo is maintained in the population.

"The problem will be especially bothersome in our 3 senior high schools where the enrolment will increase by 2,000 in the next two years," Watkins said.

Watkins told the group that plans must be started soon on a new high school if the problem is to be met. "It takes a minimum of 4 years to plan and build a new school, and unless something is done soon, we won't be ready for the increased enrolment in our high schools," he said.

The proposed school would be built in east Lincoln. The area would include all territory from 48th Street east, one mile north and two miles south of O Street, with Holdrege and Van Dorn Streets forming the north-south limits.

They Need Only To Listen

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

They need only to listen and to comprehend in the United Nations for the world to become free and peaceful. There could be no other interpretation from the words spoken to the 99-nation body by President John F. Kennedy. The clarity with which he propounded the cause of the Western world was actually a very stern measure of the gravity of the world situation today.

His words were full of promise, full of hope and full of compassion but they showed the marked conflict which exists between democracy and communism. Nowhere was this better seen than in the President's discussion of the issue of colonialism—an issue which he agreed belonged on the agenda of the assembly. But he saw this colonialism in the destruction of freedom behind the Iron Curtain. He saw it in the people of satellite countries who live under the domination of foreign government and under the threat of foreign armed forces. He saw it in a fettered press, in a kept political system, in a clamp on organized labor and in such stark realities as the wall between East Germany and West Berlin.

Colonialism Exemplary

If the nations of the world which can still call themselves free cannot understand this meaning of colonialism, then perhaps they deserve the fate that is in store for them. But if they do understand it, they had better act accordingly because time is fleeting and the shadows of communism hover over all of them. Kennedy made it clear to them that we stand for freedom and Russia has made it clear by her deeds that she stands for slavery.

What, really, is the choice that the world faces? In truth and in reality there is no choice because the philosophy expressed by Kennedy is the expression of an ideology which the Red menace does not encompass. It is an ideology founded in the freedom and dignity of mankind, in a purpose to life of service and in dedication to individual rights.

Not a semblance of any part of these three things can be found in the doctrine of communism. It is from the realization of this that we find the gravity of present world conditions. Despite the motives and ambitions of the free world, despite its strength, there will never be an end to its worldwide struggles until there is an end to communism. The best that can be hoped for is a stalemate until this end is within sight. How or when it might come is an element of the future about which no one knows. We can only be determined that the end shall come and do those things which encourage it within the framework of a peaceful existence.

This, of course, was the President's thinking when he examined the details of the hard problems which face the world today. Teeth were put into our expressions of human hope and understanding with the President's offer to sign today a treaty for a ban on nuclear bomb testing. He further backed up our humanitarianism with a pledge to negotiate until completed a plan for general and complete disarmament. The only thing lacking to the fulfillment of this worldwide dream is an equal display of sincerity on the part of the Soviet Union. Again, if the smaller nations of the world cannot grasp the meaning of this and see where the threat to peace exists, then the future for them is indeed bleak.

Particular note was made by the President of conditions in Southeast Asia where free and independent nations such as Laos and South Vietnam are constantly threatened by the imperialism of Russia. And while President Kennedy can point to enslavement by Russia throughout Europe and the hope of Red enslavement throughout all of Asia, there is not a single instance of this which can be laid at the feet of the United States.

Not in every detail have we been perfect. Not always have we acted from other than selfish motives. Not always have we brought about the progress and prosperity in foreign lands that we enjoy here in the United States. But never throughout our history, have we shackled the ambitions of mankind to be free. And more and more consistently, we are trying to unlock the chains of ignorance and poverty which do bind the people of many lands.

Once again, this was made plain by President Kennedy in his reference to the Berlin problem and Germany in general. He saw as of little consequence the actions of Russia in her dealings with the puppet state of East Germany. But East Germany as a means of destroying the rights of the West in Berlin and the rest of Germany was seen as a threat to freedom we cannot and will not countenance. Here again, the distinction between liberty and tyranny was painfully clear for all to see. This was the distinction he drew throughout his remarks as he sought to kindle in the heart of every delegate the courage to fight for freedom and self-determination.

Clarity of Issue

They are crucial days ahead for the United Nations as an organization alone, but more important, they are days of number for the individual members of that organization. Those members who have not yet made the choice will be called upon to do so shortly. Kennedy spelled out that choice for them—servitude or liberty.

Farm Aid No Hardship

The September Review of the Tenth Federal Reserve District, after a penetrating study, had this to say about the farmer and his relation to the food dollar.

The first is that since 1947 the retail cost of food has increased $55 billion, or 49 per cent, but dollar payments to farmers, notwithstanding their increased operating costs, have remained relatively stable. In other words he didn't share greatly in the gain.

The farmer did share in the expanded market for his products through non-farm processing and more effective merchandising of food, but in 1945 the farmer got 53 per cent of the food dollar. In 1959 he got 38 per cent.

In 1947 the retail cost of the market basket was $911 and in 1960 it was up to $1,052—up 15 per cent. The marketing charge increased from $444 in 1947 to $644 in 1960—up 45 per cent.

At first sight it would seem as though both the farmer and the consumer has been coming out at the short end with the processors and retailers getting the benefits. This does not bear the weight of examination. Labor costs, selling costs and transportation dimmed the benefits to the processors and retailers. The consumer got his relief through greater annual earnings. In 1947 food accounted for 27 per cent of his total expenditures, but in 1960 his food spending was only 22 per cent of his total, meaning that his income rose faster than his food costs.

That all still leaves the food producer behind the eight ball, but it does show that he can be squeezed into a better economic position without real hurt, either to the consumer or non-farm handler of food products.

The Growing Services

Sam Dawson, the Associated Press' writer on business, is authority for saying that the services are the fastest growing part of the U.S. economy, and now takes 40 cents of every dollar the consumers spend. By services he means the fields of work from which no tangible products result, but from which abstract benefits and comforts ensue, such as banking, doctoring, legal help, selling, record keeping, maintenance, politics, defense and the like.

Such a pronouncement as Mr. Dawson made should be neither unexpected nor provocative of thoughts upon "whither are we drifting?" The higher, more efficient and enlightened society proceeds away from physical toil and toward the services. This describes a society which has succeeded in producing the basic essentials of life with greater and greater abundance at less and less effort and is liberating itself from consuming toil for the more important job of building a more serviceable and sophisticated civilization.

The arrested civilizations are those which must spend all their energy barely existing. They have no time nor strength to get out of their swamp. Backward societies are a little better. Their services consist of chieftains, witch doctors and warriors with every one else hustling from dawn to dark with poor implements to find enough to eat.

The steady growth of the services in this country is a sign of progress as well as a warning that education must keep abreast or in advance of it, for while everyone can offer physical toil in return for a place in society, only adequate and energetic education will suffice in a country where toil is a vanishing need and trained minds a necessity.

Freedom Riders Freed

The Interstate Commerce Commission has struck another effective blow for the cause of racial integration. With the history of the Freedom Riders still fresh in their minds, commissioners joined in outlawing any segregation on buses or in terminals operating on an interstate basis. To maintain their authority to operate, interstate carriers must post signs in buses and terminals declaring a policy of non-segregation.

This means that there can be no discrimination in seating on a bus. A Negro rider can occupy the front seat, middle seat or back seat. He may ride on the inside or the outside and is subject only to the demands of everyone seeking a seat. The same thing is true of terminal facilities. The Negro can use any rest rooms or eating facilities that are provided.

This action will not spell an end to segregation because the issue goes far beyond the problem of public transportation. It is found in many areas of life but more important yet, it is a matter of personal feelings and opinion. What is forced upon the public by way of desegregation represents progress of a somewhat peculiar nature.

It still leaves the matter of education, of employment, of living and of many other things to be settled by the people themselves. But what the interstate bus action does is further the principle of desegregation so that it can be applied more easily, even if with some reluctance, to the other areas of life where it has some importance. The I.C.C. ruling is an important one in this regard as well as for the specific issue with which it dealt. It is a clear sign of the inevitability of desegregation on all fronts, not just in transportation.

Lateran Treaty Would Fit Berlin

WASHINGTON—The communist party and the Catholic church don't particularly love each other, but the Vatican may prove an example to the Kremlin for solution of the Berlin crisis.

Premier Khrushchev told me last month that he was willing to help guarantee the future independence of West Berlin and provide access to it from West Germany. Senators Fulbright of Arkansas and Mansfield of Montana suggested some time ago that Berlin be an international city, perhaps with part of the United Nations located there.

President Kennedy is not adverse to such a plan, and last week Khrushchev's son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, published an editorial proposing that the U.N. be located in Berlin.

Best example to safeguard the future of Berlin is the Lateran treaty of 1929 guaranteeing the independence of the Holy See.

—The Vatican's Guarantee—

Senator Fulbright, who has made a study of this, points out that "the Vatican state is a separate sovereign juridicial entity entirely surrounded by the Italian city of Rome. The treaty recognizes with precision the problem of access across Italian territory.

"The Italian government is precluded from any intervention in the Vatican state," Sen. Fulbright points out. "Italy ensures the Vatican City an adequate supply of water, communication with state railways, direct connection of telegraph, telephone, radio-telegraph, radio-telephone, and postal service."

☆ ☆ ☆

Fulbright also points out that the Lateran treaty, if adopted for Berlin, would absolutely guarantee the transit of materials and supplies across east Germany to Berlin.

"Goods arriving from foreign countries and destined for the Vatican City," says the treaty, "shall always be admitted in transit over Italian territory at any point on the Italian frontier and at any Italian port, with entire exemption from customs."

Premier Khrushchev repeated several times last month that he would cooperate in any kind of guarantees for a free city of Berlin—after a peace treaty was signed with East Germany.

"We are going to sign that treaty," he said. "Sixteen years after a war is long enough to wait. It would be the happiest day for us if you would join us in the treaty. But we are going to sign anyway."

Once that treaty is signed, the wartime military occupation of West Berlin ceases, he said. However, he emphasized that he would be willing to cooperate in guaranteeing the future independence of West Berlin if we in turn recognized East Germany.

The example of the Vatican treaty and the opportunity to memorialize Dag Hammarskjold by making Berlin a "city of peace" may prove the way out of the present deadlock.

BOB CONSIDINE

Mr. Nixon Making A Difficult Decision

NEW YORK — Dick Nixon has made the toughest decision of his political life. He will signify his intention of entering the race for governor of California. If he wins he will have removed himself from presidential consideration in 1964. Because he will have given his solemn promise that he will not use the governor's mansion at Sacramento as a mere stepping stone.

If he barely beats Democratic Gov. Pat Brown, who will run for re-election, he will have tainted his claim to national leadership of his party. If he loses to Brown he is, of course, out of politics for keeps.

But these have been lesser puzzlers in his mind, of late, when compared to the first stumbling block that confronts him as he steps on the Long Road Back. His first menace, who might conceivably destroy him, is former Gov. Goodwin Knight.

Goody Knight is out for the state's GOP nomination. Next year's primary, unlike all those that preceded it in California, will not permit "cross-filing." This will tend to keep the elephant and the donkey strictly separated and force voters from straying over the line. Knight has announced his determination to stay in the fight against Nixon "until the bitter end."

☆ ☆ ☆

He is expected, also, to make much of the fact, if it is a fact, that Nixon long since has lost contact with the people of California, their problems, aspirations and so forth.

In almost any other land where democracy flourishes, Nixon would not be called upon to start his comeback by fighting in the neighborhood clubs.

He would have been given some post in government, after his narrow loss of the White House position. Or he would have been a top member of the "opposite bench." Here, though he lost by only a few thousand votes, he was plunged almost instantly into oblivion. He realizes that a desk in a law frim in California is hardly a vehicle for propelling him up out of that well of political loneliness.

There has been much maneuvering of late, in his behalf. Some effort was made recently to persuade Tom Kuchel to give up his seat in the U.S. Senate and run for governor, permitting Nixon to run for the Senate. Nixon's new set of advisers, who came up with this one, pointed out that even though returning to the Senate might appear to be a step backward it will give him a national stage and permit him to run against JFK again in 1964 without having to give up the Senate seat.

The hardest blow Nixon has suffered since that hour when he had to swallow and concede that he had lost the most excruciatingly close race in presidential history has been delivered—probably by accident—by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Instead of retiring to Gettysburg, golf and memoirs, was was expected, Ike seems to have acquired an appetite for politics—a field in which he was never interested before. He, who had so little to say while Nixon was running for the presidency, now is unquestionably the chief spokesman of the GOP. He is titular head, and Nixon finds himself far down the line. It is Ike they want at those $100-a-plate GOP dinners. It is Ike who sounds off against the Kennedy administration. They like Ike.

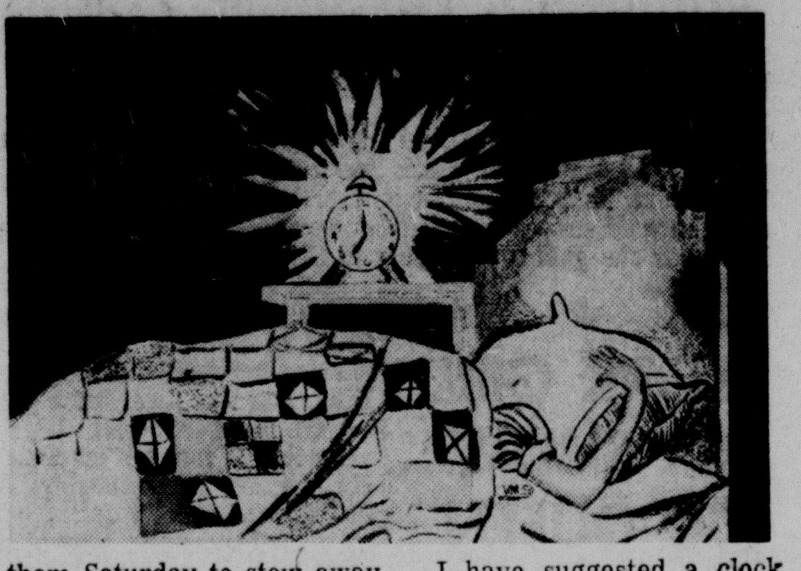
Patchwork Prairie Country



Tonight I watched the sun go down behind our little town and it did it so gently I scarcely knew night had begun. The bats knew night was coming, though, for they circled over the town, their high-pitched chirps telling every bat still asleep that it was time to be up and eating. They dived and darted, glided and sailed against the silver moon. It was twilight and they were visible in the half daylight hour.

The leafy green trees held hands down the street, forming a canopy of dark shadows. Children played tag in front yards and dogs barked, often for nothing more than their shadows.

Far away in a grove of trees, the locusts sang but somehow their song sounded of a dying summer. The wind, too, as it scampered down the street and around the corner seemed to give a whistle of mischief, a whistle that seemed to say, "Just wait. I've got a whole bag of tricks that are frosty and ice-spangled."

I felt the chill of the wind and drew my coat a bit tighter about me. Somehow I do not look forward to the snapping jaws of winter. They seem so all-consuming.

Blue plums are on the market now. I bought them with a blue plum cake in mind. I made the cake as I have for several years now since getting the recipe and we think it is just as good today as the first day we tasted it. It freezes very well. I have in mind to make several of them Saturday to stow away in the deep freeze. Something tells me we are going to enjoy the fresh flavor of blue plums along about Christmas time. In fact, it could very well double for the sugar plum cake with its rich topping of cinnamon crumble, made of butter, flour and brown sugar. The delicate blend of flavors that comes from the oven at baking time puts one in a holiday mood.

There's something about an alarm clock that I do not like. Ours looks quite new for its age. The glass isn't broken. The springs are all in working order. Its tick has sort of a rhythmic beat—not too loud, not too gentle. But the alarm! I am convinced it is the alarm of an alarm clock that I resent. It must go into some sort of wild exotic dance when the springs unwind the alarm. It seems the very walls vibrate and the bed itself shakes with a tremor.

I have suggested a clock radio with quiet mood music to arouse us in the morning. Perhaps such music would not awaken us for music hath power to sooth the savage beast. What would it do to civilized people who like to sleep? Perhaps it would send me into a deep slumber as it did Snow White after she had eaten the apple.

I have always had a secret desire to buy a tall grandfather clock. The deep chimes are soothing and peaceful, sounding like temple bells echoing on the buoyant summer air. But I suppose, were an alarm installed within the majestic framework of the clock, I too would be saying, "There's something about a grandfather clock that I don't like."

So perhaps when all is said and done, I am much wiser to keep our alarm clock. If I am not going to like alarm clocks, it can just as well be a $1.98 clock as an expensive clock radio or other variety. It's much cheaper that way.

Pool Condition

Friend, Neb.

After reading the article in The Star stating that Friend's swimming pool was given an "average" rating by state inspectors, may I ask some questions:

How was this rating arrived at? In a casual conversation this week, an employe at the pool made the statement that "bombing" by divers or dives from the high board shakes the bottom of the pool, which threatens to cave in at any time, sucking all luckless swimmers into the diving deep pit.

This would be a tragedy which could result in the death of several youngsters at one time.

Why was this condition not discovered by the inspector? If it was known, what recommendations were made to correct the condition, and most important safety-wise, why was the pool allowed to open?

INTERESTED CITIZEN

Editor's Note: The State Health Department's sanitation division, which inspected the Friend pool, reports that it was rated "average" because of defects largely in the operations category. No structural defects were found and the pool is believed to be structurally sound, the division reports.

Working Wives

Crete, Neb.

All this bickering on how to entice our young people to stay in Nebraska is all baloney. It could be done if employers would stop hiring married women. The only way to do this is to place a large tax on employers who hire them. If the married woman is indispensable, then the employer wouldn't mind the extra tax. This would also discourage them from hiring their own wives, relatives and dear friends.

In this way there would be jobs a-plenty for our young people and others who are in desperate need of jobs. Married women want their cake and want to eat it also, with no thought that they are robbing someone of a job and forcing our young people to leave the state for employment.

Just look around any city, county, state or public office. They are all filled with married women whose husbands draw large salaries and some have enterprises in addition. If given an opportunity, many of our young people would be well qualified for these jobs.

Counter-Censure

Fremont, Neb.

I wish to counter-censure the University of Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of University Professors and the Wesleyan Chapter of AAUP for censuring the Nebraska State Normal Board for cancelling Henry St. Onge's teaching contract.

As representatives of Nebraskans, people who are not in sympathy with communism, it is only proper that they keep the faith and represent the people in this capacity even as Mr. Curtis and Mr. Hruska represent us in Washington!

Anyway, why such sympathy for this doctrine the educators so loudly profess they do not believe in? In spite of the fact that there are many persons who do not believe in the Darwinian theory of evolution and accept only the Bible explanation of creation, how much consideration would a science professor receive who wished to teach this in a classroom? Would we hire men in our medical schools who wished to continue with the theory that we are made ill from breathing night air? If our educators sincerely and wholeheartedly reject the doctrine of communism, why do they want to give it so much polite consideration? It should be lightly tossed aside even as the idea that the world is flat! Both ideas are ridiculous for people of our culture to entertain!

More credit to our courageous Normal Board!

Roads In Knox

Crofton, Neb.

On reading your editorial of Sept. 19, I cannot write to you and not commend you for your stand on the gravel roads in east Knox County, and I would also like to explain why most of the folks in east Knox County are opposed to the road along the lake.

No. 1 reason is that this proposed road leads right up to the doorway of a town in a neighboring state.

No. 2 Our Knox County road commissioners tell us that if the proposed road is built, the existing road will never be hard-surfaced.

No. 3 They also tell us that this road is not being built for us but for the tourists to use.

No. 4 This proposed road is nothing more than a one-or-two-day-a-week road, and a five-months-a-year road.

No. 5 The existing road has done the job for five years and will still do so. If it is rebuilt, it will also serve as a mail route, school bus route, cream-and-milk-pickup route and will serve the general public, including our towns of east Knox County.

We would like to show folks the road that is causing all the comment and would like them to hear the real thoughts of the average taxpayer.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Greater Pride Urged In Treatment Of Elders

By Robert Peterson

The elder statesman of the film capitol is Francis X. Bushman, 78. With his classic profile, wavy gray-brown locks, stately bearing, and immaculate grooming he looks like a modern composite of George Washington and Thomas Jefferson.

When I lunched with him and his pretty wife recently I remarked facetiously that he had my vote anytime he wanted to campaign for office as head of our nation's elder citizenry.

"You do the organizing and I'll run," he countered in a reply edged in seriousness. "I'm keenly interested in geriatrics. We need a campaign to stimulate the public to take greater pride in its treatment of oldsters.

"I'm not advocating a welfare state but I say it's shocking when a nation as rich and productive as ours cannot see that its elders—who have made our country great—enjoy such essentials as decent housing and medical care.

"I'm also disturbed that we haven't figured out a way of using older people productively. I'm often invited to address senior groups and I'm shocked by the number who have nothing to do. I know from talking with many of these people that they'd welcome being asked to do something useful and worthwhile. But no one asks them and jobs are scarce. So what can they do? I don't know the answer. But there must be someone in this country smart enough to figure out a way of utilizing the thousands of relatively healthy older people who are withering on the vine through disinterest and disuse."

I asked what he was soing. "I'm lucky in having som notoriety as an old screen star so there are lots of invitations. Then once a week or so I have a bit part in some film. And on Sunday nights I narrate a local television show. Incidentally, if I've got any advice for youngsters it's to save part of your money when you're making it. Millions of dollars rolled my way and I'm sorry to say most of it rolled right through my fingers. I hung onto enough so that we can live comfortably. But if I could do it over again I'd set up a plan of saving a strict percentage of everything I earned."

He looks so astonishingly fit and robust for a man pushing 80 that I asked his secret. "Exercise," he said firmly. "In my early movie days I was very athletic, and in my middle years I tangled daily with a gym full of exercising devices. Nowadays I do calisthenics whenever I feel I need it — which is several times a day. I do stretching, pushups, and knee bends. I gave up drinking five years ago and eat what I like. My doctor says I'll have no trouble reaching a hundred."

Bushman — a splendid figure of an elder — expounds a sound philosophy and keen awareness of senior needs. If our nation's elders ever need a vibrant contemporary to represent their interests he'd be a good man for the job.

Abandonment Of Rail Branch Fight To Be Continued

The Nebraska Railway Commission said Monday it will continue the fight in opposing an interstate commerce commission ruling which abandoned the Scribner-Oakdale branch of the Chicago & North Western Railway Company.

Included on the branch is service to Scribner, Snyder, Dodge, Howells, Clarkson, Leigh, Creston, Humphrey, Cornlea, Lindsay and Newman Grove.

Commissioner Richard H. Larson said that the Commission has received permission from Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer to continue the employment of the Marti, O'Gara, Dalton & Sheldon law firm to take the Commission's case to any tribunal.

LEAGUE WORKS NOW ON 1963 LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

The League of Nebraska Municipalities hopes to draw up nearly a year in advance the legislative program which it will push in the 1963 legislature, Executive Secretary A. G. Wurst said Monday.

Participating towns and cities heretofore have brought in their legislative proposal as late as the fall season preceding a unicameral session, he noted.

The league aims this time to have the cities deliver their proposals before the end of this year so the league's legislative program can be drafted early in 1962, Wurst said.

The recommendation came from the league's executive council and was discussed at the league's annual meeting last week in Scottsbluff.

The executive council will meet in Lincoln Oct. 14 and can be expected to push the matter at that time, Wurst indicated.

Revisions in construction and bylaws adopted at the Scottsbluff convention are designed in other ways to "beef up" the organization, Wurst said. A new schedule of dues will provide funds for increased services, including more research and greater activity in the field, he said. Another change increased membership on the executive committee from three to five

This program reflects recommendations contained in a report prepared by Ned W. Phye Jr., Fremont city administrator.

Phye said that once elected legislators "must be educated and must be provided facts concerning proposed city legislation."

Johnson Warns Of Possible 'Blunder'

. . . IF REDS MISJUDGE U.S.

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)— Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said Monday night Soviet leaders will "blunder into an irreparable catastrophe" if they misjudge the United States' willingness to defend Berlin.

Johnson said in a speech at the annual Southern Governors Conference "we are not paying any blackmail . . . we are not deserting our obligations to West Berlin . . ."

The vice president praised President Kennedy's speech earlier in the day before the United Nations in which Kennedy told the General Assembly the United States has both the will and the weapons to resist communist aggression.

Johnson said he hopes the Russians make no mistake about this point.

"We challenge no one," he said, "but we never surrender under threats. The path of reason, of diplomacy, of negotiation, of honorable settlement is open. We want to take it.

"We seek peace but we shun appeasement because we know it is surrender on the installment plan and the signal for ultimate war. Our power is a pledge of peace, not an incitement to conflict."

Johnson said the Soviet Union is trying to destroy the work of the late Dag Hammarskjold because the U.N. secretary-general made it possible "for the United Nations to take executive action to defend world peace."

"This certainly is a new reality in world affairs. It is a development which may yet shape the future and defeat the ambitions of dictators," the vice president said.

"Today the United Nations can place troops in the field, under its own authority, even when all the communist-led nations are opposed to such an action. A new principle has been established and has been put to work in the Gaza Strip in the Middle East and in the confused anxieties of the Congo.

"No one pretends that this new experiment in collective action has been conducted without mistakes and without friction. But a brave beginning has been made, and on the success which has already been achieved it will be possible for the United Nations to build stronger securities for peace."

Johnson called for selection of an interim secretary-general.

Johnson predicted that U.N. debate will show that Red China "is unworthy of membership in the United Nations because it fails to meet the peace-loving standards established in the charter."

Toaster Starts Apartment Fire

Fire in a basement apartment at 1135 So. 15th early Monday afternoon caused considerable damage before being put out by the Fire Department.

The fire was apparently caused by the malfunction of an electric toaster, which overheated and set fire to the table top and spread to wall cabinets and ceiling, according to Chief Fire Inspector Dallas Johnson.

The rest of the apartment, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Colwell, also suffered considerable smoke damage, Johnson said.

Osteopath Criticizes Nebraska Legislative Action

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska has not provided for the desires of its residents in the matter of osteopathic legislation, according to osteopath Wallace Pearson.

Dr. Pearson is professor of osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., and a trustee of the American Osteopathic Association. He is in Lincoln in connection with the state association's annual convention at the Hotel Cornhusker Monday and Tuesday.

"Nebraska legislators will be ashamed of themselves if in a few years they are among one or two states resisting the recognition of osteopathy," he predicted.

Osteopathy is a system of health and healing founded on the theory that the living body is a machine that can protect itself so long as it is in correct mechanical adjustment.

In some states there is no distinction between "doctor of osteopathy" and "doctor of medicine." In others, osteopathic practice is somewhat restricted.

Dr. Pearson asserted, "Medicine cannot defend its position that the osteopath is not a physician well-versed in medical training."

He holds that osteopaths are "universally accepted" as fully qualified physicians with a little different emphasis of care.

"Osteopathy in Nebraska has been below standard, especially in the rural areas," Dr. Pearson claimed, because of "restrictive legislation."

Dr. A. G. Zuspan of Aurora, outgoing president of the Nebraska association, backed up Dr. Pearson's charges. He said many families would like to continue with osteopathic care they have received in other states.

Many Leave

"Many have left or not settled here when they find the laws are so restrictive," Dr. Zuspan observed.

Both men agree that legislation in their favor will not be forthcoming by means of lobbies or pressure groups. "Pressure will have to come from the people," declared the Kirksville professor.

The College of Osteopathy at Kirksville was the first such school in the United States. It was founded in 1892.

The Nebraska association elected Dr. J. R. Swanson of Wahoo president, and Dr. I. N. Morgan of Steele City vice-president Monday. Dr. Ezra Ingham of Beatrice was added to the board of trustees.

Hanson Asked: Rescind Remark About Beermann

The state chairman of the Nebraska Federation of Young Republicans has called on Democratic state Chairman Russell Hanson to rescind his statement in which he said Rep. Ralph Beermann was aiding communism by speaking against the Peace Corps.

In a letter to state leaders of the young GOP, Arlen Beam said he is writing Hanson to ask him to rescind his statement because "it was unfortunate and I think it was not what most Democrats really believe."

"From Mr. Hanson's remarks, we would be led to believe that he would ask us to declare a moratorium on democracy, on free thought and free expression, while we wait for the present administration to lead us to victory in the cold war," Beam said.

"I am convinced that part-time democracy cannot work It would, rather, serve the cause of communism.

"There can never be a recess of free thought or free expression if we are to prevail as a free nation and set an example for the rest of the world."

Drive-In Restaurant Plans For 18th, Van Dorn Rejected

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Curb cuts for a proposed King's Drive-In Restaurant at 18th and Van Dorn were turned down for the second time by the City Council on a unanimous vote Monday.

Neighborhood residents protested the drive-in as resulting in traffic congestion and problems both at Monday's hearing and one held in August.

The resolution proposed two 42-foot-wide curb cuts on 18th for entrance and exit and widening of 18th by 10 feet and Van Dorn by 6 feet along the property's frontage at private expense.

Atty. Richard Vestecka, representing Handy System Stores Inc., owner of the 4-lot tract on the southwest corner of 18th and Van Dorn had told the council these conditions were agreeable.

Won't Drop Carhops

However, Vestecka said his client wouldn't agree to exclude in-car and carhop service from the restaurant's proposed 54-car parking lot.

Noting the property was zoned for local business 15 years ago, the attorney questioned whether the council could deny the owner reasonable access to his property.

However, Lloyd Chapman, attorney for 75 protesting property owners, said the council has public safety and welfare powers covering just such situations.

A proposed widening of Van Dorn to ease traffic congestion expected to result from the drive-in brought objections from another business property owner.

Hurt Others

An attorney for the Sitzman property on Van Dorn said the widening move, as proposed, would eliminate the only available parking for a drug store and a hardware store.

"Don't destroy two businesses just to help another," he added.

An adjoining residential property owner said a "nice quiet grocery store" was proposed for the site when zoned some 13 years ago. "Now the owners want to put in a drive-in that will bring the hot-rodders," he protested.

Other property owners described "drive-in restaurants in residential districts as the city's biggest public nuisance."

They also said traffic hazards and congestion would result from the drive-in, as has occurred at 40th and South and at other locations.

Before the vote on the defeated resolution, Councilman Ed Becker had proposed an amendment eliminating the widening of Van Dorn as a condition for the curb cuts. The amendment lost by a 4-2 vote.

Lava Spurts From Kilauea

Hilo, Hawaii (AP)—Lava spurted up 15 to 100 feet Monday from unpredictable Kilauea Volcano. It was the 3rd eruption in 3 days.

Farmers of Pahoa, a village of 1,100 on the slopes of Kilauea, were ready to evacuate if lava threatens. Three other small farming villages were evacuated as the result of other recent eruptions and a series of earthquakes.

A tremor Sunday cracked the foundation of a Hilo school housing 87 evacuees from the villages of Kaueleau, Opihikao and Kalapana.

The newest eruption was 12 miles from Pahoa. Ten miles from the village the farming community of Kapoho once stood. It was buried under 35 feet of Lava in 1960.

Farmers are allowed to enter the threatened area only on passes to care for livestock and to keep their farms going. Billowing smoke and volcanic gases hung over the southeast coast of Hawaii Island.

Seventh Year

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP) — Two former police officers of the Juan Peron regime this week started their seventh year of asylum in the Paraguayan Embassy. The government claims they tortured political prisoners and refuses to give them exit permits.

Zoning Change Fails To Muster Majority

The question of business zoning for two lots at the 6-way intersection of Dudley, 65th and North Cotner Blvd. was left up in the air Monday by the City Council.

The council voted 3-2 to deny the zoning change, but 4 votes are required for decisive action.

A re-vote will be taken at each Monday meeting until a 4-vote majority prevails.

Comstock Leads

Councilman John Comstock led the council voting against the zoning change, saying: "Let's not make a bad situation worse."

Backing Comstock, Councilwoman Helen Boosalis observed that the request zoning was prompted by nearby business zoning granted by a previous council in overturning a planning commission recommendation for disapproval.

Councilman Del Tyrrell did not vote, having an interest in property involved in the previous business zoning grant.

Council vote was: Against—Comstock, Boosalis, Lewis; for—Hinkley, Becker.

Change Opposed

Another zoning change ordinance, proposed for introduction at next Monday's meeting, drew opening fire from Yankee Hill School District taxpayers.

Involved is proposed A-1 single-family residential zoning for an approximately 60-acre tract at the southwest corner of Pioneer Blvd. and Folsom.

Mrs. Clarence Johnson told the council that more houses in the area "would overcrowd the Yankee Hill school."

She noted the school has increased to 5 classrooms with 150 pupils from 3 classrooms and 75 in 1954.

Approximately 25 persons appeared in opposition.

Other zoning ordinances scheduled for introduction next Monday are two-family zoning at 38th Street Court; depth extension of highway business zoning on Cotner Blvd. just north of O, and light industrial zoning of 6 lots on 48th between Fremont and Hartley.

Ordinances introduced and scheduled for public hearing on Oct. 9:

—Paving district for Deweese Drive from Francis to 56th.
—Water district for Deweese Drive from Francis to 56th and Holdrege from 53rd to 55th.
—Sewer district for Deweese Drive from 56th to Francis.
—Plat of Jordan's Replat, 9 lots near 70th and Huntington.
—Grading district for Roose from 52nd to 55th.
—Graveling district for Roose from 52nd to 55th.

All council members were present except Mayor Pat Boyles, excused for vacation.

Lancaster County $ For Democrats Chairmen Named

Three co-chairman have been named to head the 1961 Dollars for Democrats drive in Lancaster County, Frank Golden, chairman, said Monday.

Mrs. Louis Holbert, Miss B J. Holcomb and Walter C. O'Neal Jr. will serve as cochairmen for the drive, that begins Thursday and continues through Monday. A rally will be held Oct. 3. for all persons who worked as solicitors.

The Young Democrats Club at the University of Nebraska and Teen-Dems will assist Democratic party workers in the door-to-door campaign.

Headquarters for the drive will be open from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in the Lincoln Hotel.

WOULD YOU SELL YOUR NAME?

Every organization needs funds for projects or service work. When the professional promoter promises easy money and no work, there is a temptation for a group to sell its name—and the price may be pretty dear when you consider the promoters' take plus the possible repercussion from high pressure selling and misrepresentations. We urge those identified with various clubs to weigh carefully the over-all cost as against what is left for your project. Soap Yields Up Riches To Fortunate Villagers

Snettisham, England (AP)—Folks in this Norfolk village are raking riches out of their washing powder. And the detergent trade at Philip Norwood's grocery has never been better.

It happened this way:

As a sales gimmick, the Thomas Hedley detergent firm started marketing the powder with a bingo card on the wrapper and a jumbled series of numbers lined up on a slip of paper inside.

A necessary digression: Bingo, a gambling game, is a current craze in Britain. In bingo palaces up and down the land, patrons collect cards bearing various numbers. Numbers are pulled out of a hat and the first person to check out a lineup on his card wins a prize.

The detergent bingo was a variation on this theme. If the inside slip corresponded with any straight line of numbers on the card on the wrapper, the detergent firm advertised, the buyer could do a simple crossword puzzle and claim a prize.

The prizes included washing machines, refrigerators, record players and gold watches.

The people of Snettisham discovered that grocer Norwood's detergent was lucky. There were plenty of winning slips among the product on his shelves.

Apparently, the company had sent a whole batch of prize-winning packages in one load to Snettisham by mistake instead of only a few.

Folks bought up packages of washing powder by the dozen. "I have bought 24 packets," said Mrs. Margaret Sadler. "Now my family has claimed two refrigerators."

Said Mrs. Phillis Firth: "In 72 packets I found 3 winning slips. We are claiming 3 refrigerators."

"In over 20 years I've never done so much business," said Norwood. "I reckon my customers have claimed $14,000 worth of prizes."

A spokesman from the manufacturers said:

"Provided the entries comply entirely with the rules and the numbered slips are in order, these people will qualify for prizes."

Board Standards Do Not Apply To Parochial Buses

A bus which is owned and operated by a parochial school or church and is used for the transportation of children to and from a parochial school does not have to meet the school bus standards adopted by the State Board of Education.

According to Atty. Gen. Clarence Mayer, the same applies to a school bus which is privately owned when the owner contracts directly with the parents for the transportation of their children to and from school.

Meyer clarified the regulations regarding school buses in a written opinion requested by Freeman B. Decker, state commissioner of education.

One exception to the above is, Mayer said, when a privately owned bus is contracted to a public school district for the transportation of public school children. In this case, the bus must meet the general safety and maintenance standards laid down by the state board.

The opinion was written by Meyer and Asst. Atty. Gen. Dwain L. Jones.

NEW SEWER FINANCING IS FAVORED

A new city policy for financing the cost of storm sewers in new residential subdivisions was tentatively agreed upon by the City Council Monday.

Cost of required storm sewers of 36 inches or smaller in new subdivisions would be paid by the developer under the proposed policy.

The city would pay one-half of the "over" cost for sizes upwards from 36 inches. The developer would pay the remaining cost.

The council agreed to send the proposed policy to the Planning Commission for comment and recommendations.

It was also suggested the policy be drafted in ordinance form and be made a part of the city's subdivision code.

Erickson Recommends

In recommending the new policy, Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said the division of costs would be substantially in line with that experienced with most subdivision developers during recent years.

In other action, the council formally authorized the signing of a milk inspection services contract with the state.

Under the contract, the city health department will make Grade A milk inspections for the State Department of Agriculture and will be reimbursed by the state.

Fee Increased

Acting Mayor Del Tyrrell reported Lincoln will pay an annual membership fee of $1,900 compared with the present $200 to the Nebraska League of Municipalities under a move to finance a more progressive program.

While Lincoln's fee was upped 10-fold, Tyrrell said Omaha will pay a 15-fold increase. Other cities will have similiar proportional increases, he said.

Only two cities voted against the increase at the league's annual meeting, he said.

Finance Director James Mallon said it is essential that Nebraska's towns and cities stay "on top of any proposed state tax structure changes to protect themselves."

JFK's Address Wins Overwhelming Praise

Washington (AP) — President Kennedy's address before the United Nations won overwhelming bipartisan praise in Congress Monday—particularly his no-backdown stand on Berlin and his disarmament plan.

But there were notes of caution that the final decision on easing world tensions lies with other nations, particularly the Soviet Union.

And Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana both applauded the speech and proposed either Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos or Indian Prime Minister Nehru be considered for the U.N. post of secretary-general.

He acknowledged he did not know whether either would be willing to accept but doubted the Soviet Union, now pushing hard for its "troika" scheme of three secretaries-general, would fight either one.

The suggestion of Nehru for the job brought prompt and sharp opposition from Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

"I can think of no one less suited to Western purpose in the United Nations unless it be China's Mao Tse Tung or Russia's Gromyko (Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko)," Goldwater said. "At the very best India's Nehru is a professional neutral. And if this administration hasn't wised up to the phony stand of the so-called neutrals . . . I doubt if they ever will."

To this Mansfield retorted later he thought Nehru is basically friendly to the West but torn "by the position on his frontier of a country like Red China."

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate majority leader, supported Mansfield, calling Nehru "one of the truly great free leaders of the world" who is "absolutely crucial in the struggle for freedom of Asia."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., Senate minority leader, called Kennedy's proposals a "magnificent hope" of settling world problems and added:

"I was glad to note the firmness with which he dealt with the Berlin situation. I think he disposed of the troika question with his observation that there may be 3 horses but only one driver."

But Dirksen noted the West is still confronted with the reality of the still undisclosed Russian reaction to the proposals. Mansfield hit the same theme, emphasizing "what happens rests not with us but with the rest of the countries of the world, especially the Societ Union."

"I agree wholeheartedly with what the president had to say on the principle of troika," Mansfield stated. He praised the President's presentation of dangers in Laos, South Viet Nam and other trouble spots as well as at Berlin. He expressed hope the address would ease world tensions.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said Kennedy "expressed the will and convictions of the people of the United States" and a willingness to "negotiate in terms of mutual respect."

SOME SERIOUS LISTENING

Britain, West Germany Back U.S. Disarm Plan

By The Associated Press

Britain and West Germany promptly endorsed Monday night the new U.S. disarmament plan President Kennedy presented to the United Nations general assembly while challenging the Soviet Union to a "peace race"

Moscow radio and the official Soviet news agency Tass reported initially without comment only that Kennedy had addressed the 99-nation assembly and "dwelt on the activity of the United Nations, the question of disarmament, the so-called Berlin crisis and the question of colonialism."

A British foreign office statement in London said the U.S. plan for gradual and inspected steps toward complete and general disarmament had Britain's "full and enthusiastic support."

In Bonn, a West German government statement said "the plan represents a realistic and practicable basis for negotiations. The government of West Germany, although it is not a member of the United Nations, stands ready to use all its powers to support the American proposal."

The British and West German governments limited their immediate official statements to disarmament.

But British officials privately hailed Kennedy's speech as an outstanding combination of realism and vision, conciliation and firmness.

The British especially warmed to Kennedy's statement that he considers a peaceful settlement to the Berlin crisis is possible even if the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany sign a separate peace treaty.

Kennedy's words "we seek no perfect solution" echoed what British officials have been saying privately for months.

The British stand firmly behind Kennedy's call for a single secretary-general to replace Dag Hammarskjold. They also oppose the Soviet Union's so-called troika proposal to replace the secretary-general with a 3-man directorate on which each would have veto power.

The West German government statement said it hoped the United Nations will approve the disarmament plan and that negotiations between the great powers will begin with it as a basis.

President Grim, Deliberate At U.N.

By Saul Pett

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)— It was a grim and deliberate President Kennedy who made his first appearance Monday before the jury of the United Nations.

Slowly, solemnly, carefully, he closed with the grisly warning: "Together we shall save our planet — or together we shall perish in its flames."

Did he make an impression? Did he change any minds? Did he budget the unbudgetable or tilt the wavering? It was impossible to tell from the overt reaction of his audience in the great blue and gold hall of the U.N. General Assembly.

The President was interrupted 6 times by applause. It seemed to follow international party lines. It was strongest among the delegates of Western Europe and Latin America, Cuba excepted. It was weaker among the non-aligned nations of Africa and Asia. It was non-existent in the solid Soviet Bloc.

Clap Once

The Russians managed to clap but once. That was when they rose with the other delegates for the traditional polite wave of applause as the slim, young President of the United States strode across the green-carpeted podium to lay his case before the world.

Beyond that, nothing from the men of the Kremlin.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko wore what appeared to be a characteristic expression of quiet pain, like a man feeling the beginning of an ulcer. He seldom looked at John Kennedy, prefering to gaze, instead, at the high ceiling, the floor or green marble platform behind the speaker, where the UN's presiding officers now sit and Dag Hammarskjold no longer sits.

Only once did Gromyko change expression and appear to respond to the speaker. That was when President Kennedy, discussing Western rights in Berlin, quoted a Russian writer. Said the President:

Pushkin

"One recalls the order of the Czar in Pushkin's Boris Gudunov: 'take steps at this very hour that our frontiers be fenced by barriers . . . that not a single soul pass o'er the border, that not a hare be able to run or a crow fly.' "

That brought a grin from Gromyko and an amused conversation with his gray-haired Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin, who otherwise spent his time taking notes. Note-taking also seemed to preoccupy the intense little foreign minister of Cuba, Raul Roa.

The most noticeable gesture in the Russian bloc came from K. V. Kiselev, foreign minister of White Russia, who found one portion of the speech a convenient time to run a comb through his thick white hair.

Adlai Intent

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson followed the speech intently, his eyes steadily on the man who succeeded where he had twice failed. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk generally kept his gaze glued to the text as the President spoke.

V. K. Krisha Menon, a characteristic glower on his dark face, kept his chin in his hand and his intense eyes on the speaker, like a man waiting for the first glimpse of insincerity.

Demure and attractive as always, Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy sat with gloved hands folded placidly across her lap in a VIP section to one side of the delegates.

Throughout the speech, the President slowed his normally rapid pace and kept to a minimum his favorite gesture — a pumping of his right hand.

Leader Of Held U.N. Troops Reports, 'Everything Is Fine'

Editor's note: AP correspondent Colin Frost has made his way to Jadotville, in the secessionist Congo province of Katanga, and obtained the inside story of the U.N. Irish troop surrender and what led to it. His dispatch follows.

By COLIN FROST

Jadotville, The Congo (AP)—Commandant Patrick Quinlan, senior officer of 190 U.N. personnel held prisoner in this Katanga stronghold, sat at a sidewalk table under the awning of his hotel prison camp Monday and reported "everything is fine."

Across the sunbaked street Katangan parachute troops in red berets and camouflage uniforms kept watch from the front of requisitioned cafes. Others manned roadblocks at the end of the street.

Despite the troop presence and prisoners, this was the most relaxed part of the town. The rest of the European quarter seemed virtually empty because Africans failed to show up Monday morning after a night of rioting in the African township.

Bush Tracks

I reached Jadotville after a 6-hour drive over bush tracks from Kipushi on Katanga's border with Northern Rhodesia. The main road was reported impassable because of U.N. roadblocks.

Rifle fire crackled out over the African quarter as the gendarmerie fired in the air to break up fighting between rival African tribes. Trucks ferried arrested Africans into military headquarters.

The U.N. prisoners are 180 Irish soldiers and 1 Irish civilian, 6 Italian Red Cross officers, 2 Swedes and 1 Norwegian.

Quinlan reported that all 5 men wounded in the Jadotville battle that ended with the surrender of the entire company of the Irish 35th battalion now are recovering well. He said the prisoners are getting good food and good treatment generally.

Great Fight

Lars Froberg, U.N. interpreter from Sjomarken, Sweden, was captured with the Jadotville Irish. He said "they put up a great fight. These are very young soldiers but they kept going with great spirit even though short of water and food."

Quinlan said the Irishmen's main handicap in the Jadotville fighting was lack of advance warning from the United Nations that a military operation was to start in an attempt to reunite Katanga with the rest of the Congo.

"I received a message just as the Katangans started shooting at us. I was upstairs shaving when this message arrived.

"We rushed down to the rest of the men and by that time we already were under fire," he said.

Repulsed Series

During the next 4 days the Irish repulsed a series of onslaughts and were kept under constant mortar, machinegun and light arms fire. At the weekend, he and the Katangans arranged a cease-fire and sent joint patrols through town to show the situation was normalizing.

By that time, word had come through that peace talks for the whole of Katanga were to start. Quinlan said he agreed to surrender his men to avoid large-scale loss of life, both in Jadotville and in the attempt to relieve his besieged garrison.

Had his force been warned that the Sept. 13 operation was to start, he said, he could have controlled the bridge on the main Jadotville-Elisabethville road where the U.N. effort to relieve his garrison failed repeatedly.

Quinlan called up the baby of his force, Pvt. Jimmy Tahaney, from Fermoy.

Shell Shocked

Tahaney—"He says he is 19 but he looks more like 16 to me," said Quinlan—was shell shocked when thrown into the air by a mortar bomb.

"Now I am fine," said the youngster.

Pvt. William Ready, 20, from Cavan, marched up smartly despite a bullet through his left thigh. "I was lucky — it didn't touch the bone," he said.

Sgt. Walter Hagerty, 22, from Galway, was hit by mortar shrapnel. "I can't show you where but you can take it from me I couldn't sit down after it," he said.

Highway 2 Relocation Approved; Ogallalans Present Interstate Plan

By BETTY PERSON

Star Staff Writer

The State Highway Advisory Commission Monday approved a controversial relocation of Highway 2 from a point north of Crawford to the South Dakota line which places the new road approximately 7 miles east of its present route.

A 23-mile stretch of road is involved in the relocation upon which a hearing was held at Crawford August 10.

A number of delegations appeared before the day-long session of the commission including representatives from Ogallala seeking a route for the Interstate Highway north of that city.

Two Being Studied

State Engineer John Hossack said two routes are under study — one south of the South Platte River about a mile from Ogallala, and the other near the hills about 1½ miles north of the city.

Cost estimates and other information upon which the decision will be based should be ready in 6 weeks after which the Highway Commission will hold public hearings in the area on the route selected.

George Morrow, president of the Ogallala Chamber of Commerce, and Don Lenker, chairman of the Chamber's Transportation Committee, told the commission they favored the northern route.

Morrow asked about the possibility of providing a double access road which would enable travelers to enter Ogallala from one interchange, drive through the city, then return to the Interstate by another interchange.

Relieve Monotony

Such a plan would relieve the monotony of traveling on the Interstate, he said, though he admitted his request was akin to "reaching for the stars."

Hossack said interchanges for access roads into Roscoe (east of Ogallala) and Brule (west of Ogallala) are planned, along with an interchange for a feeder road into Ogallala.

He suggested that a motorist wishing to get off the Interstate and drive through Ogallala could use the Roscoe and Brule interchanges.

A large delegation of ranchers and farmers from the Atkinson area requested consideration for early improvement of Nebraska Highway 11 from Atkinson north to Butte.

Francis "Bart" Lee, acting as spokesman for the group, said the area, previously all ranch country, is now changing to irrigated country increasing the need for an improved highway.

He asked that efforts be made to re-grade the roadbed, at least, as soon as possible describing the present facility as being in such poor condition there was "no justification for calling it a highway."

The commission said the requested improvements will be considered for the 1963-65 road program.

Improvement Asked

Representatives of the Highway 92 Association met with the commission to ask for improvement of a 54-mile stretch of that highway between Arthur and Broadwater.

Noting the growing importance of the east-west highway, W. B. Hagler of Arnold, said residents of Arthur, Gordon and Morrill counties wanted to do everything they could to help the state hasten improvements.

Local citizens could be especially helpful in right-of-way acquisition matters, the group stated.

The commission also heard from John Delehant Jr., Omaha attorney representing the Seldin Construction Co. which is developing an 800-acre plot along West Center Street from 112th to 132nd in Omaha.

Delehant said the development, which will include a $3.5 million shopping center, needs more access roads to Center Street.

The state has approved 4, given tentative approval to two more, and the construction company wants a total of 8. Without these, Delehant said, his client faces a considerable financial loss from probable cancellation of contracts for major service stations.

Will Have 13,000

Delehant said the area being developed will have a population of 13,000 within 5 years, with its ultimate potential rated at 30,000 population making it the fifth largest urban area in the state.

The commission took the matter under advisement and said it would reach a decision in 30 days.

By tape-recording, the commission heard from still another delegation, this one seeking the addition of a 9-mile road east from DeWitt to the state highway system connecting it with Highway 77.

The group, led by Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt, said the most urgent need on the highway is a bridge over the Blue River.

The commission advised it would consider the request when it next considers additions to the state system.

Commission Okays Base Access Road

The State Highway Advisory Commission Monday gave its formal approval to the original location of the Lincoln Air Force Base access road to the Interstate Highway as requested by the Air Force.

All but a very short stretch of the road is within the LAFB grounds, and the entire road will be paid for by the federal government.

Popular Guest Trio

Three popular guests in Lincoln at the moment are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Larson and their small daughter, Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Larson and their daughter arrived from Santa Barbara, Calif., on Saturday and are the house guests of Mrs. Larson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Hawke.

Later this week the guest trio will go to Decatur to spend a few days with Mr. Larson's father, H. C. Larson, and then return to Lincoln.

Numerous informal courtesies have been planned for the visitors during their stay here.

Suburban Life Never Is Dull

EASTRIDGE

Mrs. Dale Bruggeman has really been bridge-ing it this past week. Last Monday she was hostess at an afternoon of bridge when the dealers and bidders were Mrs. Don Towle, Mrs. Jack Coupe, Mrs. Doug Marti, Mrs. L. E. Sieckmann, Mrs. Robert Larson, Mrs. George Kaufman, and Mrs. M. D. Hudson.

And on Wednesday night the wives of Beta Sigma Psi gathered at the Bruggeman home for dessert and bridge. Present were Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Robert Schultz, Mrs. Ron Peters, Mrs. Les Roberts, Mrs. Martin Bauer, Mrs. Kenneth Schmidt, and Mrs. Howard Mastalir.

Another bridge party in the Eastridge area is on the calendar for this evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Patterson over on Dale Drive. Enjoying dessert and bridge will be Mrs. Sid Artt, Mrs. Philip Beltz, Mrs. Conrad Fisher, Mrs. Gerald Maddox, Mrs. Don Treadway, Mrs. A. D. Wilson, and Mrs. Robert Lipps.

Last Saturday Amy Beyers, Susan and Patricia Gray, Janet Lamb and Mike Lucas gave forth with a rousing rendition of "Happy Birthday" as little Barry Lucas blew out the three candles on his birthday cake. Needless to say, the three candles revealed his age.

Four newcomers to Mulder Drive, Mrs. Melvin Svoboda, Mrs. William Plourde, Mrs. William Ahrens, and Mrs. Marvin Haase, were guests of honor at a morning coffee last Tuesday, given by Mrs. Duane Grantski and Mrs. Sam Whitworth at Mrs. Grantski's home on Mulder. Other guests present were Mrs. Dick Wade, Mrs. James Roberts, Mrs. A. W. Wilson, Mrs. Burt Scanlan and Mrs. Don Treadway.

From the West Coast comes another new family to Lincoln — Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Burton who have moved from Northridge, Calif., to 5837 Randolph. The Burtons have two daughters, Susan, who attends Eastridge Kindergarten, and Kathy, who is nineteen months old.

A luncheon followed by an afternoon of bridge was the order of the day at the home of Mrs. William Zeitz last Wednesday. The guest list included Mrs. Max Burroughs, Mrs. Richard Stehly, Mrs. Gordon Pejser, Mrs. William Sonderegger, Mrs. Kenneth Pohlman, Mrs. Dale McCracken, Mrs. Dwain Jones, Mrs. Robert Sim.

Former neighbors from Littleton, Colo. were house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Toughill this past week end. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ragsdale, visited with the Toughills before continuing their trip to Northwestern University where Miss Ragsdale is enrolled.

Just returned from Hot Springs, Ark. are Dr. and Mrs. Louis L. Gilbert, who visited there for a week while Dr. Gilbert attended the South Central Urological convention.

A "welcome to Bruce Drive" coffee was given last Thursday by Mrs. Jerry Wakefield. On hand to extend a warm welcome to Mrs. George Alp, Mrs. Robert Garrett, and Mrs. L. C. Coy were Mrs. William Sommer, Mrs. Roy H. Ochsner, Mrs. Elsie Pelikam, Mrs. Merrill Rose, Miss Marjorie Finch, Mrs. Wayne Heidtbrink, Mrs. Donald Hamilton, and Mrs. Marlo Moore.

CHATTER
— in the —
CORRIDOR

BY MARY PAT SULLIVAN

Good morning from Pius!

With the beginning of school we saw the political machinery of democracy grind out a new bevy of class officers. The voting resulted as follows: Senior Class President, Mike Prokop; Vice-President, Paul Dolan; Secretary-Treasurer, Jim Liewer; and in the junior class John Schneider is the new President; Bob Byington is Vice-President, and Mark Merwick is Secretary-Treasurer. The sophomores elected Mark Cunningham, president; Bob Chavez, vice-president; Peggy Liewer, secretary and Tom Sullivan, treasurer.

Paul Wheeler, star tackle for the Thunderbolts, used his head a little too forcefully in the game with South Sioux City and as a result not only successfully blocked a crucial point after touchdown kick but also was rushed to the hospital with a concussion and neck injury. Paul has now returned to school and has since been elected Student Council President.

Who says only girls are fashion conscious? Plaid pants are the boys' latest contribution to the fashionable look and it is very Ivy League.

Puerto Rico has been the home of Sandra Sapp for the past three years. This year Sandy is a senior at Pius and she lives at the Air Force Base. She believes that the average Puerto Rican teen-ager is more mature and self-disciplined than those in America. The high schools there are conducted like our elementary schools in that all classes are held in the same room. Sandy tells us that the English school in Puerto Rico is superior to the regular public school not only in facilities but in the educational system itself.

Oh, yes! Here is something curious. All teen-age parties are attended by the whole family. How would you like that?

Another newcomer to Pius is Janet Vohs who also lives at the Air Force Base. She has spent the last three years in Japan. She found the Japanese very friendly and hospitable. When Janet visited the home of a Japanese school friend, she was overwhelmed by the warm atmosphere into which she was received. The social activities of the Air Force Base teen-agers in Japan centered around youth organizations and they took many trips to places of interest as well as ski trips into the mountains, which are very beautiful.

That's all the chatter for now. Have a good day. See you next week!

Tea For New LWC Members

Between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock on Monday afternoon, the officers, members of the board, and current members of the Lincoln Woman's Club presided at a tea at the Lincoln Woman's Club House to welcome the new members of the organization.

In the picture, right to left, are Mrs. Thurman Chamblee, Mrs. Al Damek, both new members; Mrs. Don Kuhle, Lincoln Woman's Club Home Department leader; Mrs. Gilbert Hanson, social committee member; Mrs. Lyle Franklin, also a member of the social committee, and Mrs. Harry Dingman, secretary of the Lincoln Woman's Club, who is pictured as she greets new and old members of the club.

Luncheon Planned

The Lincoln Chapter of Hadassah will open the fall season with a dessert luncheon and meeting at 12:30 o'clock on Wednesday at the Tifereth Israel Synagogue. Mrs. Hyman Polsky and Mrs. Julius Misle, co-chairmen of vocational education, are in charge of the arrangements.

Women Voters' Guest

The Lincoln League of Women Voters will have a guest for two days this week. She is Mrs. LeMon Clark of Fayetteville, Ark., national treasurer of the League of Women Voters, who will arrive in Lincoln on Wednesday morning.

The Lincoln League has a busy schedule planned for Mrs. Clark. Immediately upon her arrival she will be whisked to the home of Mrs. George Holyoke for a morning meeting at which the program "Local Contribution to National Program Planning," will be presented and discussed.

Following the morning meeting Mrs. Clark and Mrs. G. T. Work of Omaha, president of the Nebraska League of Women Voters, will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller at the University Club. After luncheon Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Work will go to the home of Mrs. James H. Weber, president of the Lincoln League, where Mrs. Clark will devote the afternoon to meetings with individual members of the Lincoln League board.

On Thursday morning Mrs. Clark meets with the League in Eastridge, and will join the members of the Lincoln League board for luncheon at the home of Mrs. Weber. The afternoon will be devoted to a board meeting, with Mrs. Clark participating.

Mrs. Clark plans to meet with numerous Leagues in the state, and will be accompanied on her tour by Mrs. Work.

Mu Phi Epsilon Entertains

The alumnae members of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music sorority, entertained at a buffet supper on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett.

The party honored the patrons and patronesses of the sorority.

HOLE-IN-ONE

You've heard of the hole in the doughnut. Ruth McIntyre of Omaha, Neb., puts a hole in the hamburger. Centers cook quicker this way, says she. And when the burger is done, the hole is gone.

WATER GUIDE

What size gas water heater "fits" you? Here's an approximate measuring guide: Does your home have one bath, and not over two bedrooms? A 30-gallon tank is suggested. Up to four bedrooms and up to two baths? You'll probably need a 40-gallon model. Is your home larger still? Better consider a 50-gallon tank. Check with your local gas company or gas plumber dealer for your exact requirements and model. But whatever model you use, choose gas! It heats faster, replenishes hot water instantly.

RISING RYE

Make history with homemade bread recipe by Mrs. James Vavra of Nebraska! Combine in a big bowl 2 cups hot water, 2 tsp. Caraway seeds, 4 Tbsp. soft shortening, ½ cup brown sugar and 3 Tbsp. dark corn syrup. Cool to lukewarm. Soften one yeast cake (or one package active dry yeast). Let set 10 minutes. Add to mixture with 3½ cups white flour, sifted with 1 tsp. salt and 1 tsp. cocoa. Mix to soft dough. Let rise 1½ hours. Add 2 cups rye flour. (Dough will be stiff.) Knead lightly. Place in greased bowl. Cover with damp cloth. Let rise till double (about 2 hours). Divide into two portions. Cover; let rest 15 minutes. Mold into two loaves. Let rise (covered) till double, in greased 9½" x 5" x 3" pans. Bake 35 to 45 minutes in 375-degree gas oven. Lightly butter tops as bread leaves oven.

SILVER SEALER

You and I know it's air that darkens silver. But who'd have thought of this? Mrs. Rexford Schade, of Iowa, polishes silver flatware, then seals it in a screw-top fruit jar. It stays bright. And she can see what she's reaching for! (I've spent many a precious minute unwrapping silver. Haven't you?)

SPACE MAKER

The "laundry area" changes when your gas clothes dryer moves in. Down go basement clotheslines! Now there's room for an "ironing center." Install a counter, near ironing board and stool, for sprinkling and folding. Chain a sponge where it can reach too-dry ironing. Stretch a closet-pole into the corner, to hang finished garments. Make a shelf for sewing supplies. Isn't that handy?

TOOTHSOME TRICK

Mrs. Carl Glaser, of Nebraska, gets our vote as a most-thoughtful cook. She boils carrots till half-done, chills them and then grates them into gelatin salad. Know why? So folks with false teeth can enjoy it more!

FUNNY FACT

Thomas A. Edison isn't remembered for gas lamps. But an 83-year-old gas light glows in front of his New Jersey home! I'll bet Edison wouldn't mind. He'd appreciate the charm and practicality of outdoor gas lighting. His progressive spirit would salute strides made by natural gas, moving by pipeline throughout America to bring modern living to more communities. Pipeline supplier to your local gas company is Northern Natural Gas Company. (They "supply" this column, too!)

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Will you please explain why blondes get so much attention? A blonde can't walk into a room without turning every male head her way. She can be theflooziest looking bleached blonde, but they still look! I am a "good girl," but my hair is rather drab. I guess you could call it dishwater." I have been seriously considering dyeing it blond. Tell me, where do "good girls" go when they dye?

DISHWATER

DEAR DISHWATER: When a "good girl" dyes, she goes the same place a "good girl" who doesn't dye goes. Psychologists (and ad experts) tell us that YELLOW is the most arresting color of all. But who wants to get arrested? Stick to the natural tones.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this fellow for two years. He has spent over $2500 on rings, appliances and other gifts in anticipation of marrying me. Well, I have decided that I don't love the guy. It is getting hard for me to let him kiss me, but I hate to hurt his feelings.

My mother has advised me to return his ring, keep everything else he bought me, and to break up with him. Some of my friends say I should return everything he gave me, and call it quits. What should I do?

SORRY MESS

DEAR MESS: Return his ring, and everything else he gave you. Tell him as kindly as possible that you are not in love with him. And the sooner the better.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 22 years old, and has her own automobile. She is going steady with a young man who lives twenty miles from here. He has no car. She dates him on Saturday nights in the city where HE lives, which means she has to take HIM home and then drive herself home (sometimes at two or three in the morning) alone. Her father is having a fit about this. Our daughter says it is better this way than letting the fellow drive himself home in her car and having the car end up with him on Sunday. How would you do it? Or should we let him sleep over? Is there a solution.

WEARY MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Let him sleep at your home if you have a guest bedroom. If you haven't, the young man should see your daughter safely to her door, and then drive himself home in her car. He should arrange to return the car the following day.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO MILT: If you want to be content, try to imagine that you lost everything you have now —and then got it back again.

☆ ☆ ☆

What's troubling you? Write Abby, care of the Lincoln Star. Include self-addressed stamped envelope.

☆ ☆ ☆

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Maria Lloyd, daughter of Mrs. Maria Victorina Cantoa of Horta Saial, Azores, and the late John Lloyd, to T.Sgt. John Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Green of St. Maries, Idaho.

The ceremony was solemnized by Judge Ralph Slocum in his chambers at the Court House.

For the service the bride wore a frock of blue satin, in the daytime mode, and carried a bouquet of blue flowers.

Sgt. Green and his bride are residing in Lincoln.

Contract — three notrump played by South.

Opening lead—two of clubs.

For the first time in many years a world-wide Olympic Pair Championship will be staged this year by the World Bridge Federation.

Readers interested in participating locally can secure further information through their bridge clubs or by contacting the American Contract Bridge League in Los Angeles or New York. Thirty-two prepared deals will be contested during two nights of play on November 8 and 15.

Here is a specimen hand, issued by the committee, which indicates how par is judged on the North-South cards. South becomes declarer at three notrump after East opens the bidding. West leads a club.

Declarer ducks in dummy and East wins the king and returns a club, taken with the ace. South must now make the key play of leading a spade from dummy. When East follows low, South finesses the jack, losing to the queen.

West returns a club. South wins and leads a low diamond to the nine. Declarer knows from the bidding that East has the king. To achieve his side's par, East should let the nine win; otherwise declarer will have an easy time of it.

Declarer now leads the queen of diamonds and finesses when East plays low. When the finesse succeeds, South abandons diamonds and leads a spade from dummy. East follows low and South finesses the ten, which wins.

As a result of this series of plays, declarer makes nine tricks consisting of two spades, two hearts, three diamonds and two clubs.

If South fails to lead a spade from dummy at trick three, he loses par because he can be defeated regardless of what other method of play he chooses. He is likewise defeated if he later attacks diamonds by leading the ace first instead of a low one to dummy.

Every one of South's plays is necessary to the fulfillment of the contract.

The hands for the coming Olympic are arranged so as to reward precision in both the bidding and the play. This sample is a forerunner of things to come.

Club Officers Elected

When the members of the Northeast Nabors Extension Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ralph Walker, the group elected new officers for the coming year.

Named to the presidency of the club was Mrs. Fred Nieman. Other officers and committee chairmen include Mrs. William McVey, vice-president; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Vernon Cheuvront; music chairman, Mrs. Ralph Walker; health chairman, Mrs. Fred Hromas; civil defense chairman, Mrs. John Morford; reading chairman, Mrs. Frank Cramer, and news reporter, Mrs. William Dakan.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Oct. 11 when the members meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Cramer, with Mrs. Ralph Walker the assisting hostess.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Huskers View Films, Take Brisk Workout

. . . POLISH OFFENSIVE MANEUVERS

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska's Cornhuskers Monday donned sweat clothes and shook out the kinks left over from the 33-0 trouncing of North Dakota.

After a look at the game movies, the Huskers went out for a brisk workout which included considerable polishing on the offensive maneuvers.

"We played pretty well," Coach Bill Jennings said. "But we made some mistakes that must be corrected if we are to have a chance against Arizona."

With the exception of left tackle Bob Jones, who suffered a new attack of boils, Monday's No. 1 unit was the same as the club that opened against North Dakota.

Mick Tingelhoff, center and tri-captain, is still confined to student Health with an arm infection. Both Jones and Tingelhoff, along with reserve center Duncan Drum who suffered a charley horse against the Sioux are expected for Arizona, barring further complications.

Fear Speed

Jennings said the Cornhuskers had plenty to worry about from Arizona.

"Speed sums it up," he said. "They have some backs who can fly in Bobby Lee Thompson and Joe Hernandez."

Jennings also expressed worry about the passing ability of Wildcat quarterback Eddie Wilson.

"He is an exceptional thrower — a real pro prospect," Bill said.

Huskers Praised

Jennings didn't save all his praise for the opposition, however. He dished out a big helping to his Huskers. It went like this:

"We were very pleased with the job turned in by our No. 2 line—fellows like Gary Toogood, Ed Mitchell and Ron Michka.

"Ron Meade did a fine job of throwing, but what pleased us most was the fact he went in and moved the team.

"Dennis Claridge played very well, certainly living up to expectations in his first game.

"Bob Jones, Bob Brown and Tyrone Robertson did a fine job with the first line—all our linemen did well, in fact.

"I thought Warren Powers did a great job as our defensive quarterback.

"We were real happy with the way Pat Clare and Willie Ross handled punts for us, particularly in view of the bad weather."

Jennings said the Huskers would hold some contact work Tuesday, and maybe Wednesday.

Future Bright

One game certainly doesn't make a season, but it can serve as an indicator of things to come.

True, North Dakota was the softest touch on the 1961 schedule. Make no mistake, from here on out every game on the Nebraska schedule will be a "big one."

Arizona is the immediate hurdle, and could be the key game of the season. Even a slight letdown could be disastrous because the Wildcats have speed aplenty in the backfield and a fine passer in Eddie Wilson.

Then comes Kansas State, which proved against Indiana that it doesn't intend play give up. These 3 games figure to be the easier portion of the schedule, but not by much. Any inclination to live on North Dakota press clippings could make the Huskers ripe for a clobbering.

The North Dakota game did present Cornhusker fans with some encouraging points.

Most impressive was the performance of the sophomores, indicating Nebraska will be much improved this year and could really bloom into a full-fledged title threat in a year or two.

Great Debut

Monday morning quarterbacks were busy singing the praises of Bob Brown, the 251-pound soph tackle.

He made one of the most outstanding debuts seen at Memorial Stadium in years. With size, good speed and a love of the game, Brown stamped himself as a definite candidate for future honors. If he continues to perform as he did in his inaugural, he'll be in line for All America selection before he winds up his NU career.

Brown was just one of many sophs who sparkled. John Kirby, Clarence Osentowski, Rudy Johnson, Ed Mitchell, Willie Ross, Ron Gilbreath, Monte Kiffin, Larry Tomlinson were among the first-year men who flashed considerable potential.

And, of couse, Dennis Claridge launched his quarterback career with a cool performance and served notice he intends to fulfill the responsibility entrusted to him.

Good Start

A few fans grumbled because the Huskers didn't pour it on the Sioux by more than 33-0, but a wider margin wasn't necessary.

The Huskers flashed enough indicators—considering the caliber of competition, the clearing of the bench and the muddy field—to reveal a "new look" is a reality instead of a promise.

Consider some things other than the score (which wasn't bad):

—Nebraska has a passing threat, a good one, in fact, complete with protection for the passer.

—Nebraska has the makings of a tremendous line, one that probably won't dent too often, particularly in the middle.

—Nebraska is doing more things with the football.

—Nebraska has some top caliber depth, not just numbers.

Don't misunderstand, the Cornhuskers are not a super powerhouse, nor have they put everything together yet. There are still a lot of things to improve and a lot of questions to be answered—both will come as the season progresses.

But pre-season estimations of Nebraska appeared well-founded against North Dakota. The Cornhuskers have more potential and can do more things better than in recent years.

Barring letdowns or injuries, this should insure the 1961 Huskers of having a lot more fun.

Pirates, Cubs Are Last Cincy Stops

Cincinnati (AP)— If the Cincinnati Reds win the national league championship on their own they'll have to do it against the two clubs that have caused them the most trouble this season.

The Reds, who have the "magic number" of two-Cincinnati victories and or Los Angeles defeats — to clinch the pennant, will meet the Chicago Cubs at Chicago today and then will close out the season with 3 games at Pittsburgh Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Meanwhile the Dodgers have 6 games remaining with Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Chicago.

The Cubs, although buried deep in 7th place, hold a 12-9 margin over Cincinnati for the season. The Reds finally squeezed ahead of Pittsburgh on the season series last week when they swept a pair of games with the dethroned champs but the margin is only 10-9.

Resting Monday, manager Fred Hutchinson said he'll pitch Bob Purkey against the Cubs today.

"I'll pitch (Jim) O'Toole, (Joey) Jay and Purkey in Pittsburgh," he added.

Although Purkey has been one of the 3 top pitchers on the Reds' roster, he never has had a lot of success against Chicago. He has dropped two of 3 decisions to the Bruins this year and has a lifetime record of only 9-11 against them.

Hutchinson bemoaned a seige of wildness Reds' hurlers had in losing two of 3 to San Francisco. They walked 16 men in the 3 games and 9 of the walks were converted into runs.

Club officials also disclosed that if the Reds clinch the pennant today, the team will come home for a victory celebration. If the pennant isn't clinched, the team will go direct to Pittsburgh to wait out the two days of rest.

As the season moved into its last week, only two Cincinnati players were ailing to any extent. Third baseman Gene Freese still has a bit of trouble with a jammed ankle and outfielder Vada Pinson has a sore hand.

Pinson has stayed in the lineup but Freese sat out one of the Giant games and also was relieved late in Sunday's contest.

And although the pennant hasn't been clinched, the hubub over world series tickets in the Reds' front office got no better.

General manager Bill Dewitt said approximately 146,000 ticket applications already have been received for what amounts to about 30,000 seats —10,000 for each of 3 possible games here. All other seats in Crosley Field with its 29,625 seating capacity have been alloted.

Orsino added a single to his pair of homers while Orlando Cepeda had 4 hits and 4 runs batted in.

—WEEK'S GAMES DRAW CHANGES—

Winnebago New Leader In Eight-Man A Rankings

By MIKE COONEY
Star Sports Writer

The Indians of Winnebago are the new leaders in The Star's 8-Man Class A ratings. Coach Keith Richey's charges ran their victory string to 14 Friday night with 49-6 romp past Walthill.

Ideal Unit

The Indians are an ideal 8-man unit. They have size in the interior line, quick aggressive ends, and a speedy backfield.

Eugene Payer, a 155 pound senior, and Charles O'Gorman, a 176 pound junior, are the backs who fire the Winnebago offense. O'Gorman, a speedster, is considered by many the best back in the Logan Valley conference. He teams with Payer, another who is also shifty, to give the Indians a terrific one-two punch.

Charles Sharpback, the quarterback, is a fine passer and the team leader.

The line is anchored by Robert Stansberry, 195 pound senior center. Dwight Morgan, a quick 180 pound tackle, and rugged Jerry Walker are standouts up front. Walker is an exceptional pass catcher.

5th In 1960

The Indians were 5th in the 1960 8-man A ratings after a 9-0 record. Richey's charges have yet to be pressed this year.

The biggest obstacle remaining on the Winnebago schedule is an October 20th date with unbeaten Decatur. Homer, another top team, will entertain the Indians Oct. 13.

Sutherland is pressing the Indians after a good win over North Platte St. Pats. The Sailors may move up late in the year with continued success on a tougher slate.

Oshkosh, the Class C leader, continues to roll. The Eagles could all but wrap up the class with a victory over Class B toughies Bridgeport, Friday. A loss wouldn't hurt prestige.

Wide Open Race

Behind Oshkosh the C race is a wide open scramble. Deshler moved up to second place when Loup City was upended at Burwell but anything could happen. Ravenna clipped Class B Grand Island Catholic, and may be a team to watch.

DeWitt continued to dominate the 6-man picture. The Panthers moved into the 8-man ranks and clubbed Plymouth 71-0. Shickley and Alexandria continued to impress with easy victories.

The 8-man B chase is perhaps the toughest of all to rate. As many as 15 clubs can point to impressive wins, enough for top ten mention.

Madrid Leads

Madrid, the leader, earns the top spot on the basis of easy victories over supposedly tough opposition. York St. Joe continued to roll and Loomis took another step toward an unbeaten season.

The toughness of the class is demonstrated by Palisade, who failed to make the upper division, although they tied Class A rated Hayes Center.

Top games this week in the lower rankings find Arapahoe at Franklin in the C race, DeWitt at Diller in 6-man, and Palisade at Indianola in 8-man play.

A's Owner Asks Frick To Renege

. . . WITHDRAW APOLOGY TO MEHL

Kansas City (AP) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, has asked baseball commissioner Ford Frick to withdraw an apology Frick made to Ernie Mehl, sports editor of the Kansas City Star, "both personally and in the name of baseball."

Finley made the request in a 20-page letter addressed to Frick and dated Sept. 5. The Athletics office said Monday copies of the letter were distributed to season ticket holders and people on a mailing list supplied by the Chamber of Commerce.

Finley accused Frick of failing to investigate before making the apology and sug- under the Major League Agreement the commissioner should have taken action against Mehl.

The apology stemmed from Finley's action in publicly making a "poison pen award" to Mehl after the sports editor had written several articles criticizing Finley's handling of the baseball club.

As Finley described the "award" in his letter:

"I adorned a truck with a humorous sign. I had a large cartoon mural (8'x12') depicting Mr. Mehl behind his desk at his typewriter. Beside the desk there was a large bottle of ink labeled 'poison ink' from which extended a large quill pen. The top of the mural proclaimed 'Ernie Mehl Appreciation Day,' and on the sides of the cab doors were the words '1961 Poison Pen Award.'

The truck was driven around the infield of the ball park. When the truck arrived at home plate it was stopped while the A's special home run fireworks display was detonated.

—COMES OFF CANVAS FOR DECISION—

Sugar Ray Triumphs

Detroit (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, aiming for a crack at another middleweight title bout, came off the canvas after a low blow and scored a split decision over Wilfie Greaves in 10 rounds Monday night.

The 41-year-old Robinson, 5-time middleweight king, spotted his aggressive opponent 16 years, but was able to withstand Greaves' lunging blows to the head to earn the close decision. Robinson weighed 160¼ pounds, one pound more than Greaves.

Judge Nick Thimmesch scored the fight 47-46 for Robinson under the 5-pount must system. Judge Al Goodman scored it 46-44 Robinson while referee Lou Handler favored Greaves 45-44.

Greaves, who claims the Canadian middleweight championship, dropped Robinson with a left to the groin just before the bell in the 8th round. Handler counted one over Robinson before the round ended, but said the low punch counted as a knockdown. It was the only knockdown of the fight.

"It was a low blow," Handler said, "but it has to be scored as a knockdown."

Robinson came out furiously for the 9th round and staggered Greaves twice with a series of lefts finished by a sharp right cross.

Greaves came back with a right that staggered Robinson momentarily before Sugar Ray launched 3 rights and a left that made the Canadian's knees buckle.

Until the 9th, Robinson's best round was the 4th when he opened a cut over Greaves' left eye.

Robinson's combinations were sharp in that round, recalling for a moment his championship heyday.

This was Robinson's first victory in nearly 18 months.

He hadn't fought since last March when he lost to NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer in a championship bout.

Robinson, but for brief flurries with his combinations, did not appear like the Sugar Ray of old.

Greaves fought out of a weaving crouch and was the aggressor most of the way, with Robinson circling backwards and fending off his opponent with jabs.

The Associated Press card favored Robinson 48-44.

GRIDDER DIES

Swampscott, Mass. (AP)—David Coughlin, 17-year-old Swampscott High School football player died Monday in Lynn Hospital.

Chisox Sign Lopez

Chicago (AP)—Al Lopez signed Monday to pilot the Chicago White Sox for another year despite having one of the worst seasons of his managerial career.

His salary was unannounced. but reportedly it was near $50,000.

Until the Sox finished 3rd last year, Lopez never had managed a team lower than second place. This year the Sox will finish 4th.

But this doesn't dishearten Lopez. "Sure, I'm disappointed in our club's performance, but that doesn't mean we don't have a good club," he said.

"Wholesale trades? I wouldn't say that but I think we have good trading material."

Lopez, the only manager to crack New York Yankee superiority since 1949 with pennant winners at Cleveland in 1954 and Chicago in 1959, is going to shoot for the flag in 1962.

"Why not?" says the patient senior. "We have and excellent nucleus."

Three strong armed pitchers, several proven stars and a few youngsters comprise the nucleus which Lopez and recently named general manager Ed Short believe will pull the Sox back into pennant contention.

The pitchers are lefthanders Juan Pizarro, 24, and Frank Baumann, 28 and righthander Ray Herbert 31. The proven stars are shortstop Luis Aparicio and centerfielder Jim Landis, and the youngsters are outfielder Floyd Robinson, infielder J. C. Martin and catcher Camilo Carreon.

This means such veterans as outfielder Minnie Minoso, first baseman Roy Sievers, catcher Sherm Lollar and even second baseman Nellie Fox and possibly infielder-outfielder Al Smith could be put up as trade bait. Of this group only Smith has had a good year.

Minoso was hampered by injuries early in the season. Sievers has been hot and cold and of little help, Fox has had one of his worst years, and the nearly two decades of professional baseball have taken a lot out of 37-year-old Lollar.

Lopez does not believe the Yankees are as strong as their run for the pennant this year would indicate.

"Sure, they've had a great year." he said. "But we made things easier for them. Our club didn't play up to expectations. Neither did Cleveland and Baltimore. Detroit gave them the best run and they surprised me by hanging on as long as they did. They did a helluva job.

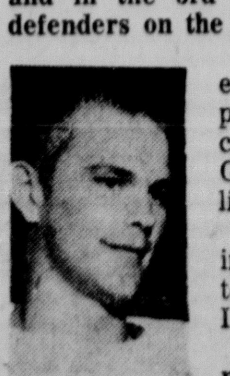
"Our league will get stronger next year because we'll have worked out our expansion experiment. With a stronger league nobody can run away with the pennant and several teams might be fighting for the title next September."

★ Capital Performance ★

BY TOM HUTSON
Star Sports Writer

The weekly Capital Performance award goes to Dave Lebsack of Lincoln Northeast for his all-around showing in the Rocket's 14-0 win over highly touted Grand Island last week.

The versatile quarterback had his hand in both Northeast TDs as he caught the Islander defense off-guard with a 44-yard scoring pass to Skip Peterson in the 1st quarter, and in the 3rd quarter literally dove over pile of GI defenders on the one yard line for the final tally.



Lebsack

The 6-1, 165-pounder also inspired Northeast's tough defense. From his line-backer position, he accounted for 13 tackles including a 4th down stop that squelched a Grand Island drive on Northeast's 6 yard line.

Another time, with the Islanders breathing on the Rockets goal line, Lebsack batted down a 4th down pass to thwart Grand Island once again.

Northeast coach, Art Bauer, credited much of Northeast's success to Lebsack's faking, which many times baffled the Grand Island defense.

Lebsack is the second Northeast player to win the Capital Performance award. Gary Muehlhausen won earlier.

Other Lincoln players in contention for the award: Pat Ryan, whose speedy sweeps sparked Pius X past Falls City; Lee Wagner, who scored Lincoln High's first TDs of the season; Bill Rohrig, whose extra point boosted Southeast past Hastings; and Northeast's defensive unit for their goal-line stands.

Maris To Yankee Stadium In Bid For Homer No. 60

. . . OLD NEMESIS AWAITS RAJAH WEDNESDAY

New York (AP) — Roger Maris and the New York Yankees return to Yankee Stadium tonight for the last 5 games of the season with Maris still looking for that magic No. 60 in the home run race. Maris hit his 59th last Wednesday in Baltimore.

Although Babe Ruth's all time record of 60 set in 1927 is safe through edict of commissioner Ford Frick because Maris failed to tie or break it in 154 decisions, he still can set a mark for the longer schedule. Because of the expansion to 10 clubs, the American League is playing 162 games this year.

Baltimore will provide the opposition Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon. After an off day Thursday, the Yanks will finish up at home with Boston Friday night and single day games Saturday and Sunday.

Houk gave the team a day off Monday before they start tuning up for the World Series opening Wednesday, Oct. 4 at the Stadium, presumably against Cincinnati.

Maris still is feeling the pressure of the home run race. Day by day his chances of becoming the first man since Ruth to hit 60 homers grow slimmer and slimmer.

"The way things are going I don't even think I'll hit 60 by the end of the season," he said Monday. "Right now, I'd have to say the odds are against me even though I've got 5 games left, all in New York. My only hope is to wait for them (pitchers) to make a mistake. But can I? I just don't know.

"They're not giving me anything to hit. They're more concerned with getting me to go after a bad pitch than in getting me out. But I've got to keep swinging. I'd rather go down swinging than go out walking.

"Normally I should have a better chance at Yankee Stadium. That is, if they pitched to me. But the same thing will happen. They'll pitch me outside."

Mickey Mantle, who has 54 homers, pointed out that the pitchers, too, have a big stake in the home run derby.

"Don't you think pitchers have feelings just the same as hitters?," he said. "Do you think they haven't been bearing down on Maris the last week more so than ever before?

"It's pride. None of them wants to be the guy who goes down in the book as the one who served up the 60th home run."

Baltimore pitching, which has yielded only two homers to Maris all season, figures to be tough again. Jack Fisher (10-12), a 23-year old right-hander, is due to work tonight. Steve Barber, (17-12) the lefty who is Maris' particular nemesis, was knocked out early Sunday and could come back by Wednesday. Of course, Hoyt Wilhelm (9-7), the old knuckleball artist, will be ready in the bullpen.

Boston can be counted upon to use Don Schwall (15-6) and Bill Mongouquette (14-13) who thwarted Maris at Fenway Park. Gene Conley (11-13) could be the other pitcher.

Mantle, who missed almost a week due to a heavy cold, isn't in top shape yet. He played only part of the time Saturday and Sunday when he was bothered by a rash.

Manager Ralph Houk, preparing for the World Series, will pitch Bud Daley (12-17) today and Bill Stafford (13-8) Wednesday. Whitey Ford (25-4), Ralph Terry (15-3) and Stafford are in line for Series starting jobs with Daley a possibility.

Steen Predicts Better Hunting

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen predicted a good hunting season for the coming fall.

He spoke at a meeting of the Lincoln Bar Association Monday evening.

He cited an increase of 20% in the pheasant population and 30% in the quail population. And this year there is an open season on deer in every county for the first time in 55 years, he stated.

"Duck, however, is not too good," he cautioned. "The've had a rough time on northern breeding grounds."

The reason for the improved hunting, he told the lawyers, was better use of hunting resources.

Noting that the pheasant was a "cagey" bird, he suggests use of a good hunting dog. "We've got the birds, but getting them is up to you."

Reverting to his favorite subject, Steen's listeners became attentive when he stated $25 million is spent annually by Americans on outdoor recreation.

"It is a big industry. More Americans are going hunting and fishing that attend movies, boxing, baseball, football, basketball, horse races and all other spectator sports combined," he stated.

He said we have to develope some tourist attractions. Tourism is one of the biggest industrial potentials in Nebraska, he said.

Second Check Shows Husker Defense Better

A re-check of statistics in the Nebraska-North Dakota game turned up the fact that the Cornhuskers actually did a better job of stopping the Sioux than they first thought.

Post-game stats showed NU held North Dakota to only 17 yards rushing. But a weekend audit by an official statistician located an error.

Nebraska officially held the Sioux to a minus-8 yards on the ground, one of the all-time best defensive efforts by a Husker team.

A's, Tigers Split Pair; Shaw Notches 3-Hitter

Kansas City (AP) — Veteran right-hander Bob Shaw of the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Detroit Tigers 6-3 Monday night on a 3-hitter, Bubba Morton spoiling his bid for a no-hitter with a line single to center in the 9th inning.

Going into the 9th Shaw had retired 23 Detroit batters, 5 by strike-outs, walked 3 and hit one with a pitched ball.

Morton then got his single and the runners advanced on an infield out. George Alusik scored McAuliffe with a sacrifice fly and Larry Osborne hit a home run over the right field fence.

Frank House made the final out, popping to Howser.

The first game victory clinched second place in the American League for the Tigers.

Emile Griffith Aims For Another Knockout

. . . CHAMP BLOSSOMED LATE

New York (AP) — Emile Griffith has blossomed from a fair puncher to a knockout slugger in the last year.

In his two world welterweight title fights, the 23-year-old native of the Virgin Islands has scored two knockouts. He won the crown by knocking out defender Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba in the 13th round and stopped Mexico's Gaspar (Indian) Ortega in the 12th round last June 3.

On Saturday night, Griffith will give Paret a return title shot at Madison Square Garden in a television 15-rounder.

Prior to the two title fights, the always top-conditioned Griffith had scored only 7 kayos in 22 fights.

Both Paret and Ortega had been known for their ability to absorb a punch. Paret never had been floored before and Ortega, who had fought the best welters and middleweights, never had been stopped.

So why the turnabout for Griffith? How did the power develop?

"Maturity and confidence," said Gil Clancy, Griffith's trainer and co-manager. "He had the punch before but didn't know how to use it."

"I'm more relaxed and not as anxious any more," said Emile. "And I listen more closely to Clancy."

Griffith has unlimited confidence in Clancy, a junior high school physical education teacher.

"Clancy told me I could knock out Paret," said Emile, an articulate and ever-smiling youngster. "I didn't think anyone could knock out Paret but Clancy told me during the fight that when I hit him right Paret would go. When he went down and stayed down in the 13th I was really surprised. Clancy just said 'didn't I tell you?'

"So I wasn't as surprised when I stopped Ortega in my next fight. Clancy told me I could do it."

LAYNE HURT

Pittsburgh (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Lane of the Pittsburgh Steelers is nursing a bruised right shoulder and may not play against the Los Angeles Rams next Sunday.

Layne was injured Sunday in the closing minutes of the Steelers' 17-14 loss to the New York Giants at Pitt stadium.

A spokesman for the National Football League team said Layne's playing status will depend on how the shoulder responds during workouts this week.

Two In Row Would Make TCU Real Giant Killers

Fort Worth, Tex. (AP)—"We sure would be giant killers if we took two in a row from those big boys," said coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian with apparent relish.

Ohio State Next

Abe was discussing Texas Christian's 17-16 upset of Kansas Saturday and the coming game with Ohio State.

He said his Horned Frogs didn't have enough experience and speed to be a top team but it sure was a dedicated effort when they beat Kansas, one of the teams often mentioned for greatness in the nation's college football this season.

"My kids were told in the papers that they weren't going to do well," said Martin. "But they were playing a great team and they didn't like to be humiliated, so they went after 'em."

KU Reading?

Martin reasoned that "Maybe those Kansas boys had been reading their press clippings, too." It, of course, would have just the opposite effect.

But Abe said he wasn't surprised at the great showing of the Horned Frogs against Kansas.

"I am never surprised at what these kids can do," he said, his eyes sparkling. "You know I told you we didn't have much experience and that we'd bend a lot but we darn sure never would break."

Jack Mitchell, the Kansas coach, told Martin before the game that "he had a good team and had been playing it down." "How do you know?" asked Martin. "I certainly don't."

PAT That Failed

Martin explained how TCU went about winning the game. He said he figured he had a chance when Kansas missed on an extra point because of a penalty and was leading only 16-7 going into the last period.

"We knew we could win the thing if we got a touchdown, because then all we'd need would be a field goal," Martin declared.

"Well, it came out that way didn't it? It was the first game I ever won with a field goal while coaching at TCU."

Martin says Ohio State is a different type team from Kansas, which is small but fast. "Ohio State is big, strong and powerful and they'll be mighty tough for us, but I'm not saying we won't beat them," he declared.

Never Surprised

Larry Libertore Gets All-American Mention

Atlanta (AP) — Larry Libertore, the 138-pound midget magician who quarterbacks the Florida Gators, threw Dixie All-America observers into a lather with his performance against Clemson in the football season opener.

The pencil-thin junior from Miami, almost exclusively a runner last year when he led Florida out of a football depression into an 8-2 season, has added an aerial threat to his repertoire.

He ran for 66 yards and passed for 95 Saturday against a rugged Clemson defense and was the key to Florida's 21-17 victory. And he achieved this while maneuvering at less than his normal speed, his coach said Monday.

"Libertore was about 20 per cent off full speed because of a sore ankle," Pepper Rodgers, Florida offensive coach estimated. "He sprained the ankle more than a week ago and wasn't able to practice at all last week. He will do better when he gets well."

The 5-foot-8 Libertore hurled a 17-yard touchdown pass to halfback Lindy Infante and connected with halfback Bob Hoover on a 43-yarder that left Florida needing only inches for another score. He set up the other Florida touchdown by running 31 yards in two plays that left the Gators less than 10 yards from the Clemson goal.

Doug Elmore, the unsung senior who succeeded All-America Jake Gibbs as Mississippi quarterback, shared top billing with Liberatore in the first report of the season from members of the Associated Press All-America advisory board for the Southeastern Conference area.

Elmore completed 5 of 6 passes in the Rebels' 16-0 triumph over Arkansas. His 81 air yards included a touchdown pass, and he led Ole Miss in rushing with 65 yards in 7 trips.

Three tackles headed the line nominees. Billy Neighbors of Alabama led a fierce defense that kept Georgia bogged down all afternoon as the nationally ranked Crimson Tide romped 32-6. Jim Dunaway, 255 pounds and as fast as many backfield men, blocked and defended expertly for Mississippi, and Florida's Jim Beaver was a tower of strength in a Gator line that had to fight heavier Clemson forwards to get Liberatore and his buddies some running room.

Emile Griffith Awarded Medal

New York (AP)—Welterweight champion Emile Griffith, a native of the Virgin Islands, was presented Friday with the Virgin Islands medal of honor.

The presentation was made by Walter I. M. Hodge, president of the Virgin Islands legislature, at a luncheon.

Griffith, now a New Yorker, is the second recipient of the medal, the first having been awarded to judge Albert Maris for his contribution to the Virgin Islands legal code.

Sooner Cripple Sheet Scratches 10th Back

Norman, Okla. (AP)—Two more backs were on the University of Oklahoma football doubtful starting list as the team counted injuries from Saturday's scrimmage.

The Sooners, preparing to visit Notre Dame in the school's season opener Saturday, have lost 10 backs since spring practice began. Trainer Ken Rawlinson said it was the worst season for backfield injuries in school history.

Latest additions to the cripple sheet are sophomore halfback Charles Mayhue and sophomore fullback Dick Beattie. Both have knees in casts.

First string quarterback sophomore Bill Van Burkleo, has been out since the first scrimmage Sept. 5 with an ankle injury and may not play against the Irish.

Two second team backs, John Garrett, sophomore fullback, and sophomore halfback Johnny Smith, were lost earlier for the season because of injuries. Melvin Sandersfeld, junior halfback, is expected to miss Saturday's game and perhaps others.

Quarterback Billy Meacham, a junior and a starter last year, is out for the season with knee and hand injuries. Last year's No. 2 right halfback, junior Don Dickey, also is out of action the rest of the year with a stubborn knee injury.

Reserve back Billy Stone and quarterback Bill Gidden are scholastic casualties.

Carry Back, Kelso In Race Of Year

. . . WORKOUTS FAVOR KELSO

New York (AP) — Carry Back and Kelso, the two chief contenders for 1961 horse-of-the-year honors, were given mile and one-eighth workouts for their important meeting in the $100,000 - added Woodward Stakes Saturday at Belmont Park.

Kelso looked the more impressive, with a 1:50 2-5 clocking for the distance Sunday. This morning, Carry Back stepped the route in 1:54 bringing a few frowns from trainer Jack Price.

Carl Hanford, trainer of Kelso, who was voted championship honors last year, was satisfied with the 4-year-old gelding's workout. "He's done all he needs to, he's ready now and he'll be ready Saturday."

"Carry Back was more tired after his workout this morning, by far, than after his race in the United Nations Handicap," said Price, who trains the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner for his wife, Katherine, of Miami.

In the United Nations, run over the Atlantic City grass course Sept. 16, Carry Back never got going and finished out of the money as he tackled the turf footing for the first time.

Price explained that Carry Back missed a workout last week due to the passing of Hurricane Esther up the east coast.

"He went slower today than I'd have liked, but it showed he badly needed the workout. I'll give him another one this week if he shows he needs it, otherwise nothing but a short blow-out Friday.

"Maybe I should have been a little harder with him since the United Nations, but I wanted to give him a chance to relax. He's proved he thrives best on plenty of work."

The fractions by quarters for Kelso, owned by the Bohemia Stable, were 24, 48 1-5, 1:13, 1:38, and after passing the mile and one eighth in 1:50 2-5 he galloped out the Woodward distance of 1¼ miles in 2:04.

The winner of the Metropolitan - Suburban - Brooklyn handicap triple wasn't fully extended.

The fractions for Carry Back, by quarters, were 23 4-5, 48 1-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40 1-5, 1:54, and galloping out the mile and one quater in 2:09.

"I don't know whether or not we can beat Kelso," Price said. "But, Carry Back can earn more prestige by getting beat by Kelso in a good race than he could by winning from a mediocre field. Anyhow, you can bet the Woodward will be a horse race."

A field of 5 or 6 is expected for what may be the "race of the year."

In addition to Kelso and Carry Back, the probable lineup includes C. V. Whitney's Tompion, Gustave Ring's Troubadour 3rd, High Tide Stable's Whodunit, and Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy.

Steen Denies That McConaughy Poor

Lincoln (UPI)—State Game Commission director Mel Steen Monday denied charges that fishing success at Lake McConaughy is low and that the Game Commission does not adequately stock the lake.

"Lake Mc Conaughy teems with fish," Steen said. "It is one of the most productive irrigation reservoirs in this nation, with an abundance of fish, low fishing pressure and light harvest."

He added that the abundance of forage fish and other foods gives the angler much competition in mid-summer and may account for a poor take. He asserted, however, that it is not due to the amount of fish being low.

In support of his comments, Steen pointed out that the lake now has a dozen species of game fish, and holds more species records for big fish than all other Nebraska waters combined.

Bowling Clinic

By Billy Sixty

Should the fingers be spread? That question dates way back to the two-holed ball era.

Even then, some closed the fingers in tight to give firmness to the grip. Others preferred to spread the index, 3rd and little fingers to put hook spin on the ball.

Things haven't changed. With the present 3-holed ball as standard, just as many still keep the fingers closed (see today's sketch).

But the sketch offers another important point. It shows the perfect hand position. The fingers are turned back only slightly at the moment the ball is in line with the sliding left leg.

Remember this sketch. It's at this point that the arm, at the bottom of the swing arc, is lifted slowly upward.

No wrist action, no turn from here in. By lifting the arm the thumb releases first and the fingers then apply enough hook spin to produce a short right-to-left break of the ball and send the pins spilling.

INDIANA BAN TO BE LIFTED?

Chicago (AP) — Big Ten commissioner Bill Reed expressed hope Monday that the NCAA would lift its ban against Indiana University, permitting the Hoosiers to compete in NCAA championship meets.

Indiana drew a 4-year ban from the NCAA last year for recruiting violations. Three years of the penalty, which affects all sports, remained to be served.

Reed, addressing the Chicago American Quarterback Club, said:

"I have written the NCAA stating that Indiana is in complete compliance with conference and NCAA rules and that reforms in its administration have fully satisfied the conference. I hope by inference the NCAA penalty can be lifted at the present time."

Knox County Protests Basin Road Location

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Sharp controversy over the location of a proposed access road to the Wiegand Basin area along Lewis and Clark Lake marked a long hearing before the Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission Monday.

A group of Knox County residents, whose spokesman is G. F. Nye of Plainview, presented a petition signed by 175 residents of the area protesting the location of the road tentatively outlined by the Highway Department.

They claimed the tentative road would add 6 miles to each round trip to the basin area, and that the suggested route would not produce the scenic highway which has been listed as an objective.

"Efforts have been made to collect money by local subscription to enable constructing the recreation area access road with matching state funds established for this purpose by the 1961 Legislature.

The federal government would supply $80,000, the state $40,000, and another $40,000 must be supplied by the county and its residents in order to qualify for the state funds.

Calling for a shorter route built closer to the lake, Nye said the road tentatively outlined was being presented to the county on a "take this or nothing" basis.

Nye also suggested that hearings on the road in that area had been "closed" as far as proponents of an alternate route were concerned.

Finigan Replies

Highway Commission Secretary Ed Finigan said the hearing at Crofton was an open meeting, and that the only purpose he and the governor's office had in attending the meeting was to provide any help possible to inform the county of procedures to follow to qualify for state funds.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton supported Finigan, stating hearings on the road have been open and should not have led to any misunderstandings.

Commission Chairman J. R. McBride of Minden said the 1961 law clearly provides that building of the road is a county responsibility and that the commission has no direct jurisdiction in the matter.

He suggested the county must take a stand on the matter, agree to a definite proposal and then submit it formally to the state engineer and the Game Commission.

Nye and Knox County Supervisor Erik Riisness said they resented implications the county was "blocking progress" in its refusal to supply funds this year.

They said funds are not available this year, but before they would consider any money out of next year's appropriations, they want a clear understanding on where the road will be built.

Home Calls 'Hostage' Talk Nonsense

New York (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Lord Home reportedly told Andrei Gromyko Monday that Soviet talk of Britain's being a Moscow "hostage" against an outbreak of war over Berlin is nonsense.

Home is understood to have made the point to the Soviet foreign minister emphatically in the course of giving him a new warning that the Western powers are deadly serious about defending West Berlin against communist pressures.

The two men met for 65 minutes at Gromyko's Park Avenue headquarters and spent most of their time discussing Berlin. They announced only that they had discussed matters of interest to the two countries, particularly including the Berlin situation.

When Gromyko emerged from the conference, he was asked about President Kennedy's United Nations speech. He said "some aspects do not meet our objections regarding the possibility of negotiations on Germany."

Asked by newsmen if he saw any hopeful signs in the speech, Gromyko replied "I would not go so far. I want to study it more thoroughly."

A British spokesman said the atmosphere of the Home-Gromyko meeting was "businesslike, courteous and correct."

This was the second meeting in 5 days between Gromyko and a Western foreign minister. Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred with him for 4½ hours last Thursday in the first of a series of talks begun by Rusk to see whether Russia will agree to a broad basis for Berlin negotiations.

Home, who took the initiative for Monday's session, also sought information on Russia's attitude toward negotiations but got no further than Rusk had. Apparently Gromyko is still awaiting any new instructions from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev following the talk with Rusk.

Rusk is expected to see Gromyko for a second discussion Wednesday. Home may have another meeting with Gromyko Thursday. Home plans to return to London Friday.

The question of "hostages" arose because Khrushchev said in an interview recently that Britian and the other Western European countries are in effect hostages to the Soviet because they would refuse to join the United States in war for fear they would be absolutely destroyed.

Home and other Western leaders still are concerned that Khrushchev may believe that, in a Berlin showdown, the Western powers will not fight. The Soviet leader has said on many occasions that he does not expect war and that he is going ahead with his peace treaty plans to give sovereignty to Communist East Germany, including control of the Berlin supply lines.

Home is said to have told Gromyko that the Soviet government is moving on a dangerous course and that if it continues on this course, the crisis will explode. It was in this connection that he denounced any talk of the British being hostages.

GERMAN PEOPLE HAVE FULL CONFIDENCE IN THEIR ALLIES

Berlin (AP) — President Heinrich Luebke was reported to have told Gen. Lucius D. Clay Monday that the German people have full confidence in the firmness of their Western allies on Berlin and Germany.

At the same time, informants in the West German capital of Bonn said Soviet Premier Khrushchev has indicated he may not rush through his separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Bonn informants said the Soviet leader told Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak in Moscow last Tuesday he was not committed to sign a treaty before the year runs out.

Surprise

Bonn officials received this news with surprise. Khrushchev previously had stated many times he would sign such a treaty by the end of the year.

But in this connection political observers in Berlin noted that the East German propaganda machine no longer refers to any date in demanding conclusion of a German peace treaty and the turning of Berlin into a free demilitarized city.

A Bonn foreign office spokesman said the West German government has not been informed by the United States of any change in its policy on Berlin and the future of Germany.

Recalled Article

The spokesman recalled an article of the 1954 agreement ending the occupation of West Germany, in which the Western powers assumed the obligation "to achieve, by peaceful means, their common aim of a reunified Germany enjoying a liberal-democratic constitution like that of the Federal Republic."

The West German public was alarmed last weekend by reports of a change in U.S. policy toward Germany, and the press warned against concessions to the communists.

Clay, who arrived in Berlin as President Kennedy's special representative last week, indicated to newsmen Friday that the West may eventually consider some form of limited recognition of East Germany.

He said West Germany must face up to the fact of the existence of communist East Germany.

Confidential

The Luebke-Clay talks Monday morning were confidential. Neither German nor U.S. officials would officially disclose what was discussed at Bellevue Castle, Luebke's Berlin residence.

Pressed for information on the talks, informants referred to Luebke's speech Sunday when he asserted that Clay had come to Berlin to defend and not to surrender it.

Luebke flew back to Bonn. He likely will tell Chancellor Konrad Adenauer what he saw and heard during his 3-day stay in Berlin.

Unconfirmed reports circulated that East German communist chief Walter Ulbricht also had flown to Moscow. His purpose, the reports said, was to discuss the German and Berlin situation with Khrushchev.

Vandals Enter Southeast High

A break-in at the shop building of Southeast High School is being investigated by police.

The intruders broke a window, crawled through and unlatched an overhead door.

A pickup truck, loaded with a 50 gallon drum of lime water, was driven from the building to the east parking lot at the school, and lime was splashed over the truck cab.

Nothing was found missing, according to police.

Aluminum Dip Ignites Selling

New York (AP)—Stock market prices were battered down Monday to their worst loss since April 24. Trading was fairly active.

News as well as technical factors were involved in the decline, which erased an estimated $4.2 billion from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the Associated Press averages.

Sharp losses by aluminum stock gave initial downside momentum to a market which was only irregularly lower at the start. The labor negotiations with Ford, whose stock touched one high after another last week, sent that stock down badly.

President Kennedy's speech to the United Nations, and its stress on disarmament, brought some uneasiness to the defense stocks but probably more important as a market factor was the decline in the Dow Jones industrial average below the 700 level for the first time since July 26. This was a bad omen to technicians and triggered further selling.

Stocks which have done the best on the upside this year were, in general, the worst losers. In addition, there was a continued taking of long-term profits in some of the badly de-glamorized "glamour" stocks.

The spreading price cuts in the aluminum industry made it seem less likely that the steel industry would raise prices because of the upcoming wage increases. Kennedy's latest communication with the steel industry further emphasized the "hold the line" drive on prices.

The market slipped very gradually until late afternoon when a wave of selling brought big losses in many important sections. Final trading was accompanied by a late ticker tape, four minutes behind floor transactions.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 9.71 to 691.86.

The AP 60-stock average fell 2.90 to 248.30 with industrials down 4.20, rails down 1.80 and utilities down 1.30. It was the sharpest decline since a loss of 3.70 on April 24.

Of 1,277 issued traded, 863 declined and 228 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 19 and new lows 84.

Volume was 3.70 million shares, compared with 3.07 million Friday.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange declined as volume rose to 1.85 million shares from 1.25 million Friday.

Corporate bonds traded on the New York Stock Exchange closed mixed in heavy trading. Volume totaled $7.12 million par value, compared with $4.88 million Friday, and was the best since Aug. 30. U.S. government bonds continued the same upward tone that was evident all of last week. Gains were limited to 6-32 but were widespread.

FEED GRAINS OFF OVER 1c

Chicago (AP)—The feed grains were under fairly heavy selling pressure most of the time Monday on the Board of Trade and losses ran to more than a cent a bushel while the futures market otherwise held steady to firm.

Nearly all corn contracts were off about a cent, oats almost two cents in spots. Brokers said the selling was largely liquidation. It started, they said, with scattered profit-taking in corn after that grain worked slightly higher in early dealings.

Soybeans leaped ahead with gains of well over a cent a bushel generally during the first several minutes but profit-takers raked them off and at one time nearly all the advance had been lost. Scattered buying near the close, however, restored a small part of the advance.

Brokers ascribed the initial strength to heavy rainfall during the weekend over virtually all the major soybean producing area of the Midwest. They said it probably had stalled the harvest for several days.

At the close, wheat was ¼-⅜ cent a bushel higher, December $2.07⅛-07; corn ⅞-1⅛ lower, December $1.10½-⅝; oats 1⅛-1⅞ lower, December 70½-¼; rye ½ higher to ¾ lower, December $1.34⅞-35; soybeans ¼-⅜ higher, November $2.39½-⅜.

Dealers described the support for wheat as largely export buying.

The open interest in rye continued to climb slowly, reflecting a steadily increasing speculative participation in that grain. The broader activity in the pit is linked with the outlook for a good export business and the possibility that supplies may become somewhat scarce during the next few months.

CATTLE EVEN TO STRONGER

Omaha (AP) — Replacement cattle made up around a third of Omaha's cattle receipts Monday. Stockers sold strong to 50c higher in active trading.

Feeder cattle were steady. Slaughter steers were firm, a few 25 higher. Heifers were generally steady, some sales strong. Hog prices held steady.

Fat lamb trade was slow. Ewes were steady.

CHICAGO

The butcher hog market Monday was fairly active at prices about steady with the $18.85 top unchanged from Friday's peak.

The supply of 6,500 head cleared early, mainly because of a good shipper demand. Only about fifty head of 200-225 lb. mixed No. 1 and 2 grades brought the peak, however. Others of the same weights and grades were $18.75 and up. The mixed 1-3 and 2-3 offerings in the 190-250 lb. range sold at $18.35-18.75 and sows at $14.50-17.75.

Slaughter steer prices declined as much as 75 cents a hundredweight on the largest Monday cattle supply since June 19. The receipts of 21,000 head were 2,000 above the weekend estimate.

With the extreme setback on weights upward from 1,400 lbs. the lighter choice to mostly prime offerings sold at $25.75-26 and most of the mixed choice and prime at $24-25.50. The same grades over 1,500 lbs. went at $23.50 and strictly choice up to 1,650 lbs. at $22-23.75. The good grade topped at $23.75.

Heifers were steady to 50 cents lower, bulls and vealers steady. Heifers moved at $22.75-24.25 choice to mixed choice and prime, bulls at $18-20.50 for utility and commercial and vealers at $18-25 for standard to good.

In the sheep market, spring slaughter lambs were steady with choice and prime going at $18-18.75 and the good and choice at $15-17.50.

Curran Heads State's Bankers In 4-H Support

Nebraska bankers will join 4-H club members around the state during October in supporting the educational programs of the National 4-H Club Foundation.

Lester S. Curran, agricultural representative of the First Continental National Bank & Trust Co., will head the program in which 47 Nebraska banks participated during 1960. This number marked a 50% increase over the previous year, he commented.

The campaign enables bankers to broaden their traditionally strong local support of the 4-H club program, Curran stated. Most recent project undertaken by the National 4-H Club Foundation is a one-year study leading to expansion of science training through 4-H club work. The Foundation carries on several other activities, including citizenship education, leadership development, the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE), and operation of the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

Curran pointed out that two Nebraska youths are taking part in the IFYE program this year. Donald Siffring of Ogallala is expected to return from Germany late in November. Ernest A. Mehl of North Platte leaves in October for his 6 months' living and working with rural people in Panama.

6 Nebraska Projects In Okayed Bill

Washington (AP) — A $3,940,926,880 public works appropriation bill passed by the Senate provides funds for several Nebraska projects.

The Senate bill calls for an increase of $278,225,500 over the House-approved program.

The bill carries money for operations of the Atomic Energy Commission and for hundreds of flood control, navigation and reclamation projects during the fiscal year which began July 1.

The bill approves construction money totaling $800,000 for new Army Engineer Missouri River agricultural levees in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri.

Among Nebraska projects covered in the bill were:

Salt Creek and its tributaries, $1.75 million, construction.

Beatrice, planning of flood control works, $10,000.

Ainsworth, unit and irrigation project, part of the Niobrara plan, $3,259,000, construction.

Farwell unit, $5,955,000, construction.

Cedar Rapids division, advance planning, $282,000.

Missouri River channel stabilization, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska: Sioux City to Omaha, $5,600,000, Omaha to Kansas City, $2,800,000; Kansas City to mouth, $3.5 million.

U.S. 281 Group Told Route Now All Blacktopped

Red Cloud, Neb. (AP)—Delegates from 6 states attending the annual meeting of the national U.S. 281 Highway Association in Red Cloud, Monday learned the north-south route is now blacktopped all the way from Canada to Mexico.

The project climaxes a 12-year effort by the organization to provide all-weather surfacing over the 1,800 mile highway known as the American Legion Memorial Highway.

Elected president of the Association to succeed I. N. (Jibo) Jewitt of Medicine Lodge, Kan., who retired for health reasons was W. J. Wisdom of Stephenville, Texas. Among vice presidents elected were E. E. Lake of Medicine Lodge and Lyndon Johnson, vice president of the United States.

New officers were instructed to begin work on a brochure promoting U.S. 281. The association's new goal is a 4-lane pavement from Canada to Mexico.

The 1962 meeting will be held in Kansas at a site to be announced later.

BOY SWALLOWS DRAIN CLEANER

David Mokerski, 3½, swallowed a toxic drain cleaning substance Monday.

Traffic Casualty

Orinda, Calif. (UPI) — The first wild black bear reported in this suburban Oakland area in more than 50 years wandered in front of Fred Mills' car Sunday night with poor results for all concerned. The 250-pound bear was killed and Mills' car was heavily damaged.

STUDENTS STIR FIGHT IN ALGIERS

Algiers (UPI)—Rioting students barricaded downtown Algiers streets with captured buses Monday night in a screaming demonstration for a "French Algeria." Police and troops finally quelled the rioting after menacing the demonstrators with machine guns.

Thousands of riot police wielded clubs and turned pressure hoses spouting blue-dyed water on the students who turned out several hundred strong in a demonstration called by the Secret Army Organization.

The rioting started when police moved in to tear down black flags of the right-wing underground "secret army." The clash-and run tussle between police and students continued until after dark.

There were no reports of casualties but at least 8 persons were arrested.

Soldiers, menacing the rioters with machine guns placed at strategic city corners, managed to avoid major violence.

Vehicle Death Case Opens Jury's Term

Eighty-one jurors reported for duty Monday for the first Lancaster District Court jury session of the fall term.

Evidence in the James L. Bjerrum motor vehicle homicide case will be presented Tuesday morning before 12 of the jurors with District Judge Paul White presiding.

Bjerrum, 24, of Garland, has pleaded innocent to the charge filed in connection with a two-car collision March 2 which fatally injured Doyle Prucha of Crete.

The accident occurred 3½ miles west of Crete on Highway 33 just inside the Lancaster County line.

Letting Of Contracts Expected Oct. 2 On Masonic Manor

Omaha (AP)—The board of directors of Masonic Manor, a projected 320-unit apartment building for senior Masons, may let contracts for construction of the 21-story building at a meeting Oct. 2.

Carl R. Griesen grand secretary of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Nebraska, and a member of the board, said the option to purchase a 4½ acre tract of land at the corner of 52nd and Leavenworth streets, has been taken up and the $225,000 purchase completed.

He said W. B. Millard Jr., who occupies a house on the property, plans to move about the middle of October and the building will be razed immediately to make room for the new building.

About half of the units—300 one-bedroom apartments, and 40 efficiency apartments—already have been leased, and more are being leased every day.

The apartments are available to members of Masonic bodies 62 years of age or older, their wives or the widows of Masons. The efficiency apartments lease for $3,000 and the one bedroom units for $4,500.

The brick faced building will have picture windows in both living room and bedroom, central air conditioning, a recreation room, dining room and guest rooms. The cost is estimated at about $5½ millions.

Final plans are expected to be made at the Oct. 2 board meeting. Members of the Board are: Earl Furman, president; John E. Beaver, Columbus, vice president; Elmer Magee, Lincoln; Ralph Carhart, Wayne, Ernest Van Wye, Gothenburg, John Fletcher, Omaha, and Griesen.

Six Youths Fined After Beer Party

Seven Lincoln youths appeared in Municipal Court Monday as the result of a weekend party interrupted by police.

Five of the youths were charged with possession of alcohol while being minors, one pleaded not guilty to the same charge, and a 7th paid a $10 fine on an intoxication complaint.

Six other youths — one a 14-year-old boy — were released by police, subject to call. There was no evidence the 6 had consumed any of the intoxicants, police said.

Police answered a disturbance call at 631 No. 68th, according to testimony in court, and found quantities of beer on the premises. Investigation revealed that 13 of the youths were under 21.

Some Hid, Some Fled

Several of the partying crowd escaped through a window when police entered the home, and two others were found beneath a bed, according to police.

Testimony in court indicated that officers found 68 empty beer bottles and 50 full bottles of beer in the home.

Dennis L. Garrison, 18, 2771 Cable, pleaded innocent to a charge of possession of alcohol by a minor and trial was set for Oct. 23.

John M. Patterson, 21, 1224 No. 43rd, pleaded guilty to a charge of intoxication and paid a $10.

The following pleaded guilty to possession of alcohol by a minor charges and were fined $25: Gary L. Flynn, 18, 219 So. 30th; John E. Gilmere, 18, 631 No. 68th; Robert W. Emery, 18, LAFB; Jerry J. Leach, 17, 639 No. 27th; Clifford N. Beck, 20, 1534 So. 19th.

Police are continuing the investigation in an attempt to learn who purchased the beer for the underage youths, according to Detective Captain E. R. Henniger.

Fortune Waives Extradition In Wyoming Holdup

Alliance (AP)— Larry James Fortune, 20-year-old parolee from the Pennsylvania Industrial School who was arrested after officers blasted his fleeing car with riot guns Sunday, waived extradition to Douglas, Wyo., Monday.

Fortune was sought after an elderly woman proprietor of a candy store in Douglas was robbed at gunpoint.

Box Butte County Sheriff Matt Berg said the waiver of extradition did not specify the charge pending against Fortune in Douglas but merely said he would be returned to Douglas to face a criminal complaint filed there.

Safety Patrolman Robert Zapp said Fortune admitted that the car he was driving when arrested has been stolen in his home town of New Brighton, Pa., and that he had been paroled March 29 after serving a term for burglary and car theft. But Zapp said Fortune denied the candy store holdup. However, the patrolman said a money sack found in Fortune's possession, bore the label of a Douglas bank.

Nebraska officers entered the search for the candy store robber after a car answering the description of the gunman's car was spotted near Berea, Neb.

Zapp tried unsuccessfully to halt the car. Trooper Mike Frerichs fired on the vehicle as it sped through Alliance, and Trooper Vic Hansen, waiting south of the city, shot out a right front tire and the car came to a halt about half a mile away. The car's occupant fled on foot. Officers found Fortune hiding in a barrow pit.

Salvagers Begin DismantlingPlane Wrecked In Crash

Boston (AP) — A salvage team Monday began dismantling part of a huge 707 Astrojet which lies sprawled and broken in shallow water at the edge of Boston Harbor.

The plane, American airlines flight 44 from San Francisco and Chicago, skidded off a foggy runway Sunday and splashed into the high tide that covered a mudflat.

All 71 persons aboard were rescued by a fleet of small boats from two nearby yacht clubs which rushed to the scene, only a few yards from the spot where 62 persons lost their lives in crash of an Eastern Air Lines jet-prop Electra 51 weeks ago.

Three persons were injured Sunday, none seriously. One would-be rescuer died of a heart attack.

HAY FEVER?

Inhale instant relief from pressure pain, congestion with no drowsy side effects!

1. 30 times faster than decongestant tablets that first must dissolve in your stomach before they can go to work. Nasalaire acts instantly, directly to shrink swollen nasal tissues.
2. Deeper-penetrating than messy sprays Nasalaire's medically-active gas vapor can penetrate the entire congested area to unblock clogged sinus cavities.
3. Nasalaire's new-formula decongestant acts instantly in those areas where it does the most good. Gives you faster, far more effective relief! No danger of "overdosing," use Nasalaire as often as needed.

GR 7-8902 — Journal-Star Want Ads Bring Results

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Twenty-three international airlines fly into Don Muang airport at Bangkok — from Pan American 707s and BOAC Comet IVs to Malayan Airways DC-3s flying down to Penang and Kuala Lumpur.

They unload a fair amount of tourists. Most of them have seen "Anna and the King of Siam" and realize they are in the mysterious land of sacred white elephants, dancing girls and Siamese cats.

They are in the mood to be romanced — and they soon are.

☆ ☆ ☆

"That will be 10 baht, sir," said the Thai taxi driver. He had soulful black eyes. But he had not dropped the flag on the meter.

(The money of Thailand is the tical — 20 to the U.S. $1. For some confusing reason the tical is then known as a baht.)

Since the ride had only been three blocks, I thought 10 baht might be high. But the doorman at the Oriental Hotel assured me it was quite right.

I took another taxi for 20 blocks.

"Ten baht, sir," said the driver.

I took a ride for two miles —10 baht.

"The meter Is something new in Bangkok," said Darrell Berrigan who runs the Bangkok World.

"It is custom here to bargain taxi fares. The drivers resent the meter. It takes all the fun out of life."

Berrigan said he had checked and found that the meter charge from office to his house was 11 baht.

"But I bargain it at 8 baht. Sometimes I argue the other way. I tell the driver, 'Look, if you turn on the meter you will get 11 baht. But you bargain and only get 8.' They still prefer the bargain."

☆ ☆ ☆

It is quite possible that the Bangkok drivers can afford this luxury. For the tourists have no idea what the rates should be.

They simply ride and ask: "How much is it?"

Such graciousness on the part of the Thai gods cannot be overlooked by the Thai drivers. And they make the most of it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The most popular (and cheapest) taxi is a three-wheel motor surrey with a fringe on top.

It has two wide seats in back and one seat by the driver.

It is steered by a handlebar arrangement—though the driver sits inside. There are no doors and no windows. Only a canvas top and a refreshing breeze.

There seem to be two types: The Mazor made in Hiroshima and another Japanese model called the Daibatsu Midget. The drivers rent from a central agency.

These taxis are still unmetered and are therefore a joy to their renters.

☆ ☆ ☆

Prices all along the Bangkok tourist route are raised in a flattering way.

Cigarettes that sell for 45 cents downtown are 60 cents in the hotels.

Local beer is 60 cents a bottle. And a fairly normal hotel dinner can run $20.

It is admitted that the Thais do not pay anything like this amount for living costs. But East and West are sharply split here—by economics, by language barrier and, I suspect, a number of ways of looking at things.

Taxis, however, are the same the whole world over. I took a cab for nearly an hour.

"Ten baht," said the driver. "Three," I said. "Five, sir," said the driver. And so we settled—at 4 baht.
